RUNNING MATE OF ROOSEVELT GIVES SPEECH

WALLACE SAYS GOP IS APPEASEMENT PARTY

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 29 (AP)—Henry Agard Wallace tonight declared another term for President Roosevelt would constitute an antidote for Hitler-ism in the western hemisphere.

Formally accepting the Democratic vice presidential nomination here before a cheering, cornstalk-waving crowd, the candidate said:

"Most Republicans may not realize it, but their party is the party of appeasement in the United States today."

Democratic party officials estimated the crowd at 7,000.

Titling his speech, "The New Fight for Freedom," Wallace declared this nation "must face the fact that the dictators have definite designs against this hemisphere."

President "Unyielding"

"Their tactics here, as in Europe, are to drive and conquer," he said. "They hope to get rid of the unyielding Roosevelt."

The nominee said he did not "wish to imply that the Republican leaders are wilfully and consciously giving aid and comfort to Hitler."

"But I want to emphasize that replacement of Roosevelt, even if it were by the most patriotic leadership that could be found, would cause Hitler to rejoice. I do not believe the American people will turn their backs on the man Hitler wants to see defeated."

Maintaining that President Roosevelt has "understood the Hitler menace from the start," Wallace declared:

"Powerful elements in our opposition will, if the Republicans come into power, force us to make one economic concession after another to the totalitarian countries.

"Backbone of Fifth Column"

"These appeasers will have their way if the Republicans win, because they have contributed largely, both politically and financially, to the Republican cause. These people believe the Republicans in power would give them profitable business with a German-controlled Europe at the earliest possible moment."

Those who stand for business appeasement with Germany, he continued, "are the backbone, even though unwittingly, of the most dangerous of all fifth columns.

"For the sake of a profit in 1941 they would sell out their own future and their children's freedom."

Wallace linked the economic destinies of nations in the western hemisphere with the outcome of the present European conflict.

"It is a war," he said, "to prevent the people of North and South America from developing their resources without paying tribute to Europe and without being victims

War Makes New York World Diamond Center

BY ED WALLACE

New York, Aug. 29 (AP)—Out of the economic stresses created by war, New York has emerged as the world's most important diamond-cutting center, and may become the trade's leading international market place as well.

Already the industry is expanding, and preparing for even greater expansion, in the event the city is established as a trade center for rough diamonds—a position historically held by London.

Sir Ernest Oppenheimer, chairman of two British corporations which control 95 per cent of the world's diamond production, has been surveying the field for two months, investigating the advisability of establishing a diamond trading company here.

He left two days ago, and in a statement issued today he disclosed that a proposal to establish an American company for distribution of rough diamonds was being considered as "a war measure."

"All I can say now," he added," is that a trading company will be opened here if all considerations show such a procedure to be both practical and in the best interests of American trade."

Approximately $36,000,000 in diamonds—both rough and cut and mostly in small stones—were imported last year; in the first six months of 1940, $18,000,000 worth were brought in.

Louis Baumgold, president of the nation's largest diamond-cutting firm, said establishment of a trading company by Oppenheimer interests would insure a supply of rough diamonds. He foresaw that eventually New York would be the world's No. 1 diamond center.

Cutting of small stones, formerly done in Europe, is increasing in the United States "more and more," he said, with the trade "steadily expanding."

Of the 400 diamond cutters in the United States, Baumgold's firm employs about 100, including some refugees from Holland and Belgium. Amsterdam and Antwerp formerly were the principal cutting centers. Now, only Birmingham, England and South Africa remain in the foreign field.

ROYALTY VISITS AT COUNTY FAIR

Crown Princess Martha and Children Stay With Roosevelts

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

Hyde Park, N. P., Aug. 29, (AP)—President Roosevelt introduced Norwegian royalty today to one of America's famed rural institutions—a typical county fair with its exhibits, side-shows, races and hot dog stands.

With Crown Princess Martha by his side and her two daughters clambering over his car, Mr. Roosevelt spent an hour watching a horse show at the Dutchess county fair at nearby Rhinebeck.

Then they drove through a building of Grange exhibits, in which the president's own Chapel Corners Grange took the blue ribbon. They passed up all the other attractions except a display of Dutchess county flowers.

The members of the Norwegian royal family, refugees from a country conquered by the Nazis, found a temporary haven in the serene Hudson valley home of the chief executive and Mrs. Roosevelt.

The crown princess and her children, Princess Ragnhild, 10, Princess Astrid, 8, and Prince Harald, 3, drove up from New York City this morning in time for lunch.

The president arranged to make a short, informal talk Saturday at an annual reception given him by neighbors and friends who are members of the Roosevelt Home Club.

Harry L. Hopkins, who resigned as secretary of commerce because of bad health, also accepted an invitation to speak.

Paralysis Victim Dies After Race To Locate Iron Lung

Detroit, Aug. 29. (AP) — John Woods, 20, who arrived here yesterday after a race against time from the Upper Peninsula in hopes that an iron lung would save his life, died tonight.

Stricken with infantile paralysis while vacationing at Grand Marais, Mich., Woods was rushed by boat, airplane and ambulance down the length of Michigan in search of the iron lung.

A coast guard crew took him to a clinic at Marquette, where the only iron lung was in use. From there woods was rushed to St. Ignace, where a special plane was waiting to take him to Saginaw. The sole iron lung there also was in use.

The last lap of the race was by ambulance to Detroit, Woods' home. He was taken to the Herman Kiefer hospital here.

Delay In Defense Orders 'Shocking'

Lansing, Aug. 29 (AP)—C. L. McCuen, vice president in charge of engineering for the General Motors Corporation, said today the United States would be "shocked" when it learned of the delays that would be necessary in the manufacture of national defense materials.

Addressing a gathering in connection with the Olds Motor Works annual sales meeting, McCuen said delays are being encountered in determining just what items would be required

AXIS EXPERTS TRY TO SHAPE BALKAN PEACE

KING CAROL FEARS SOVIETS; MAY GET NEW CABINET

(By The Associated Press)

Vienna, Aug. 29—Germany and Italy turned their ministerial attention to the turbulent Hungarian-Rumanian frontier today and, in separate discussions with Hungarian and Rumanian diplomats, began the shaping of the new axis-sponsored "peace."

The contours of a new line that will divide the disputed province of Transylvania and its 3,500,000 people between Hungary and Rumania were still hidden tonight.

Foreign Ministers Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany and Count Galeazzo Ciano of Italy conferred for two hours each with the Hungarian representatives, Premier Count Pal Teleky and foreign minister Count Istvan Csaky, and Rumanian representatives, foreign minister Mihail Manoilescu and his aide, Valerie Pop.

Diplomats Dig Deeply

A German spokesman said "concluding results" presumably would be reached tomorrow.

He said the length of the talks meant Ribbentrop and Ciano were going deeply into the complicated language, historical and mixed population problems of Transylvian in a "spirit of comradly cooperation."

The talks, held at the Imperial hotel headquarters of Ribbentrop and Ciano, were prefaced however, by an acid exchange of communications in which Rumania charged a Hungarian plane with bombing a Rumanian airport and Hungary indignantly rejoined.

Germans minimized the importance of Rumanian-Russian border clashes, widely reported in the foreign press, but emphasized their desire ot see "quiet, peace, order, contentment and lasting stability" in the Balkans, suppliers of axis raw materials, while the struggle with England is on.

Germans Repatriated

(Bucharest dispatches said King Carol had made a declaration that he will yield no more territory to Soviet Russia and that hundreds of Rumanians are fleeing from the corner about Dorohoi, scene of a sanguinary Rumanian-Russian clash this week.

A mass repatriation of 110,000 persons of German blood from Russian-occupied Bessarabia and Bucovina in an agreement with the Soviet was announced today by DNB, official German news agency.

(By The Associated Press)

Bucharest, Aug. 30 (Friday) (AP)—Reports circulated in the Rumanian capital today that attempts are being made by King Carol II to form a new cabinet in the midst of axis mediatory efforts to settle territorial demands of Rumania's bristling neighbors.

After an extraordinary cabinet session, in the royal palace until near dawn, the king called in a number of prominent Iron Guard (Rumanian Nazi) members for private audiences.

The king also summoned the royal councillors for an unprecedented crown council session to discuss the four-power conferences in progress at Vienna, in which the Rome-Berlin axis seeks peaceable settlement of the Rumanian-Hungarian dispute over Transylvania.

The pro-German George Bratainu, peasant leader Juliu Maniu and John Mihalache, who are not members of the council, were to meet with Carol today.

Defense Line Planned

It was reported unofficially that there was full discussion of yesterday's meeting at Vienna.

An attempt will be made to reach an agreement on a course decided on at Vienna and then to

Secretary Accused Of Getting Big Cut On Naval Contracts

Washington, Aug. 29 (AP)—Removal of Lawrence W. (Chip) Robert as secretary of the Democratic national committee was demanded in the senate today by Senator Bridges (R-NH) after he had read a statement showing that Robert's Atlanta architectural firm had been awarded $931,560 in fees on $26,859,081 of naval construction contracts.

Bridges also asserted that the attorney general should investigate the award of the contracts to Robert and company, declaring the people "want to know whether these billions for defense are being passed out honestly."

Robert, a former assistant secretary of the treasury, was in Des Moines to attend the notification of Secretary Wallace, Democratic vice presidential nominee

Willkie Sees Road To Dictatorship In Plant Conscription

BY WILLIAM B. ARDERY

Rushville, Ind., Aug. 29, (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie said today that a provision of the conscription bill authorizing the government to take over private plants would set up "a potential dictatorship." He demanded that President Roosevelt state his view on the provision.

In a formal 1,100-word statement, the Republican presidential nominee declared the conscription of manpower was the Democratic way to obtain defense personnel, but he added:

"At the eleventh hour (of senate debate), however, an amendment was introduced by new deal Senators Overton (D-La) and Russell (D-Ga) and passed by the senate, which gives the president, whenever the secretary of war or secretary of navy is unable to arrive at an agreement with the owner of any plant or facility which is deemed necessary for national defense, power to acquire such plant or facility."

Asks for Showdown

Willkie's statement, which he read to reporters during a press conference on his front porch said that "in the event of emergency, the industries and assets of this country are at the disposal of the people."

"Let us not create that emergency before it actually exists by setting up a potential dictatorship," he added.

Declaring that the Russell-Overton amendment had been supported by Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley and other "senators known to be close to the administration," the Republican nominee noted that the president had declined his suggestion that the two debate campaign issues.

"That is his privelege," Willkie added, "but in this instance so much is at stake that I put this question to him directly.

"Is he for or against the Overton-Russell amendment?"

In response to press conference questions, Willkie described the senate approved amendment as "stupendous," "staggering" and "revolutionary."

EXCESS PROFITS LEVY APPROVED

Measure Is Designed to Speed Defense Preparations

Washington, Aug. 29 (AP)—Spurred by administration pleas for speed, the house jammed through to quick passage today a bill levying an "excess profits tax" on corporations and giving special tax treatment to the makers of military material.

The measure now goes to the senate, where it is reported to face some opposition in the finance committee.

The tax, applying to corporations regardless of whether they hold government contracts, ranges from 20 to 50 per cent on profits in excess of "normal." The nearest thing to an estimate of its yield was the "best guess" of Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn), one of the bill's managers, that it would produce $300,000,000 on 1940 corporation income and $900,000,000 annually thereafter.

The ways and means committee said in its report that the tax was designed to prevent "creation of her new war millionaires or the further substantial enrichment of already wealthy persons."

At the same time, the bill is intended to "break a bottleneck" in defense preparations, as Rep. Vinson (D-Ga) expressed it, by permitting contractors to deduct, when figuring taxes, the cost of expanding their plants for defense.

Another move to speed up the letting of defense contracts is a provision suspending—during the life of the excess profits tax—the Vinson-Trammell act's limitation on profits from government contracts for warships and aircraft. Those limitations are 8 per cent on contracts let by competitive bids and 7 per cent on negotiated contracts.

Use And Sales Tax Collection Costs Reach Record Low

Lansing, Aug. 29 (AP)—Governor Dickinson was informed today by Herbert J. Rushton, managing director of the state board of tax administration, that the cost of collecting the use and sales tax during the fiscal year of 1939-40 was 1.74 cents per dollar, a record low for the state.

Rushton said the cost was 1.98 cents a year ago and 2.23 cents in the fiscal year of 1937-38. He said the taxes produced $60,438,636 in the fiscal year ended June 30, compared with $51,502,472 the preceding year and $55,309,495 in 1937-38.

HOUSE DRAFT BILL EXTENDS AGE 21 TO 45

SENATE VOTES OVER FIVE BILLION FOR ARMY AND NAVY

BY RICHARD L. TURNER

Washington, Aug. 29. (AP)—A peace-time draft bill, making all men from 21 to 44, inclusive, subject to conscription for military training, emerged from the house military committee today with the leadership drawing up plans for its house passage by the end of next week.

Acting quickly, a day after the senate's vote passing a more restricted version of peacetime conscription, the committee endorsed the measure 20 to 4. It deferred for the time being, however, action on an amendment empowering the government to seize defense production plants whose owners insist upon unduly high profits. A similar proposal was included in the senate-approved measure.

Engine Order Placed

The senate, also working at top speed, passed a $5,133,628,277 defense appropriation bill and sent it back to the house for action on amendments which added $110,459,000. Provision of $100,000,000 for housing and $10,000,000—half in cash and half in authorization—for a new graving dock at New York accounted for nearly all of the increase.

Downtown, the day produced an agreement between the navy and the United Aircraft corporation for making 17,000 airplane engines, for both army and navy, by June 30, 1942. The job was said to entail a $2,500,000 plant expansion for United—with the government buying and retaining title to $7,000,000 worth of machine tools— and six to eight months' preparatory work before production can be begun.

Controversy Expected

By contrast with the house committee's conscription bill, the measure passed last night by the senate requires men between 21 and 30 inclusive to register for the draft. Leaders fully expect the question of the age limits to develop into a major controversy when the bill is brought before the house. No effort was made in the committee to substitute either the senate figures or the original 18-64 of the Burke-Wadsworth bill.

Under present plans, the house will begin consideration of the bill next Tuesday. Chairman May (D-Ky.) said he would ask the rules committee for a rule allowing two days of general debate, and unlimited amendment thereafter, under the "five-minute rule." This enables any member to present an amendment and speak on it for that length of time.

Controversy developed within the committee on the question of including the Russell - Overton amendment which, adopted yesterday by the senate, authorizes the government to take over industrial plants, needed for defense production, when no satisfactory agreement on prices and profits can be reached with the owner.

Somebody Must Pay

Rep. Brooks (D-La.) proposed the amendment today, but it was not brought to a vote because Rep. Smith (D-Conn.) suggested a substitute, containing the same fundamental purpose but intended to assure that the government shall not acquire title to the properties seized, and to permit their operation under their present owners, subject to government di-

Radiator Alcohol Thought Wine; 4 Persons Are Killed

Battle Creek, Mich., Aug. 29, (AP)—Deaths of four persons in Battle Creek and Coldwater resulted when the victims drank radiator alcohol in the belief it was wine, Prosecutor James I. Dunn said today.

The victims were Clark Cosier, 62, and his wife, 61, and their son, Benjamin, 31, all of Coldwater, and Floyd A. Emmons, 50, of Battle Creek. Emmons died last Saturday and his death was at first attributed to a hemorrhage. The alcohol phase was discovered with the three deaths Tuesday in Coldwater.

According to Dunn, Emmons took the alcohol from the basement of a tavern where he sometimes worked. The tavern owner said he stored the alcohol in two wine jugs after draining it from his automobile radiator last spring.

Cosier, Dunn said, removed Emmons' belongings from his rooming house following Emmons' death, taking the two jugs with him in the belief they contained wine

FRENCH AFRICA TO AID BRITAIN

Vast Corridor Opened From South Atlantic to Italian Libya

London, Aug. 29, (AP)—The French Cameroons and Congo have followed the lead of the Chad territory and entered the war at Britain's side, turning substantially the whole of French Equatorial Africa into a British ally, General Charles De Gaulle announced tonight.

Thus more than a million square miles of territory has been aligned with Britain, opening a vast corridor from the south Atlantic to Italian Libya, and creating an uninterrupted British land bridge connecting the Atlantic with the Mediterranean and Red Seas.

Britain, military observers remarked, will be afforded a guarantee of the maintenance of communications for attacks on the Italian colonial empire.

General De Gaulle, head of French forces refusing to accept the surrender to Germany ordered by the government of Marshal Philippe Petain and organizing to fight on, did not himself discuss the military implications of the action.

At his headquarters, however, it was declared that their new status as belligerents would sharply restrict Italian and German naval and air movements.

It was said, too, that not only were native troops available in those areas but that there were "a certain number" of airplanes there.

Frontier Is Violated By Rumania, Moscow News Agency Says

Moscow, Aug. 30 (Friday) (AP) Tass, official news agency, disclosed today Soviet Russia had accused Rumania of continued violation of her frontier and said repetitions of these "provocative acts could not be tolerated."

Deputy Comissar for Foreign Affairs Dekanozoff handed two protests to the Rumanian minister Grigore Gafencu, the agency said, one of them in reply to a Rumanian note alleging frontier violations by Soviet troops and aircraft.

DIVE BOMBERS SWOOP DOWN ON NAVY BASE

EXPLOSIVES FALL NEAR HITLER'S RESIDENCE

(By The Associated Press)

Berlin, Aug. 29—The Nazi air force beat heavily at England's coast today in angry retaliation for a three-hour raid on Berlin by British bombers, the most punishing ever made on this capital.

While men still searched gingerly about Berlin's streets for British time bombs, the German command loosed upon the British naval base of Portsmouth its most feared air weapon, solid squadrons of Stuka dive bombers.

Airdrome All Craters

Returning pilots declared a surprise attack was hammered home spectacularly in the face of heavy anti-aircraft fire.

When they left, they said, Portsmouth harbor was "a sea of flames." A nearby airdrome was "a desert full of craters."

CHANCES 1 IN 1,000

London, Aug. 29 (AP)—A Briton's chance of getting killed or injured by a Nazi bomb is 1 in 1,000, Lloyds insurance brokers have decided in offering policies to civilians.

The premium rate will be one shilling (about 20 cents) per month for every fifty pound sterling (approximately $200) of insurance.

Both incendiary and demolition bombs were dropped in the morning darkness on Liverpool harbor; on Chatham, the military and naval center 30 miles southeast of London; on Thameshaven, lying on the north shore of the Thames estuary; on the ports of Middlesbrough, Cardiff and Bristol; on the airports of Eastchurch and Southend, in southeast England; on munitions, armament and airplane plants at Sheffield, Norwich and Coventry.

One important British attack on a military objective—the vital synthetic gasolene producing plant at Leuna, near Leipzig—was acknowledged, but Germans asserted only "slight" damage was wrought.

Claim Assault Deliberate

As to the bombing of Berlin, during which the British raiders dropped explosives within two miles of Adolf Hitler's ornate headquarters in the Wilhelmstrasse, the Nazi high command declared coldly that residential sections were "intentionally attacked."

At least 10 persons were killed and 30 injured, most of them in a working class section. A series of fires was set off and bomb craters were left in various parts of the city. One attacking plane was shot down.

German authorities declared no material military objectives were hit. Foreign correspondents, in a quick trip of inspection, saw no damage of military importance.

Straits Bridge Idea Endorsed In 1922

Marquette, Mich.—A search of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau's files in this city reveals that the organization passed its first resolution favoring a bridge at the Straits of Mackinac back in 1922, or 18 years ago, at a meeting in Escanaba.

Speakers from downstate were scheduled to speak at the Escanaba meeting, and they experienced much difficulty in crossing the Straits, arriving late at the conference. At their suggestion a pro-bridge resolution was drawn up and passed, constituting what what was probably the first formal action of the kind north of the Straits.

According to Geo. E. Bishop, the Bureau' secretary-manager, concerted action for the bridge in the Upper Peninsula got under way at a Bureau meeting in Hancock during the month of February, 1936. One session of the meeting was devoted to bridge matters, and forceful addresses were made by Don Kennedy, deputy state highway commissioner, Lansing; and Professor James H. Cissel of Michigan University faculty.

"This was followed by the organization in the same year of the Mackinac Straits Bridge Association, putting the Upper Peninsula and the northern part of the Lower Peninsula squarely behind the project," said Mr. Bishop. Meanwhile former Governor Chase S. Osborn and Governor Comstock were very active in the cause, and at one time or another every living ex-Governor of Michigan espoused it. Every Governor in recent years has favored the proposition, giving it strength and prestige of first class order. The State Highway Department, the Straits Bridge authority, Mr. Osborn, Senator Prentiss M. Brown, Congressman Fred Bradley, the Michigan press, and President J. R. Merrifield of the Association, and many others have displayed team work of a higher order. The Bureau has been proud to work with them in results thus far achieved, and has issued an immense amount of bridge copy through its publicity dept.

Today's Sport Parade

United Press Sports Editor

New York, Aug. 29, (UP) — Move over, Phil Wrigley, and make room for Larry MacPhail.

Mr. MacPhail is a member of the club now—a member in good standing of that small but growing organization of baseball magnates who have been traded out of their shirts, shoestrings and social security cards by a pair of David Harums in St. Louis named Breadon and Rickey.

The dues in this exclusive club come pretty high. It cost Mr. MacPhail, general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, $130,000 initiation fee, but the general feeling is that he got off easy. Mr. Wrigley, the charter member, paid $185,000 in advance dues on the evil day he decided his Chicago Cubs could make a good deal with the St. Louis Cardinals. The fallacy in Mr. Wrigley's reasoning was that nobody ever makes a good deal with Sam Breadon and Branch Rickey. It may look like a good deal at the moment, but time invariably proves that Messrs. Breadon and Rickey are the slickest traders in the business.

Averages Compared

All this is brought to mind by the batting averages that MacPhail read over his toast and coffee this morning:

	AB	H	PCT.
Medwick ______	445	125	.281
Koy __________	304	95	.313

For MacPhail that little string of letters and numerals was the saddest story ever written by the pen of man. Medwick, of course, is the great Ducky-Wucky Medwick, terror of National League pitchers when he was a hell-for-leather outfielder with the Cardinals. This spring Mr. MacPhail came up with a terrific yen for Medwick. The Dodgers were in first place and it looked like a pennant for Brooklyn if they could get a hard-hitting outfielder.

The deal was finally made. MacPhail got Medwick and Pitcher Curt Davis by paying the Cardinals $130,000 and turning over to them Pitchers Carl Doyle and Sam Nahem, infielder Bert Haas and, oh, yes, an outfielder named Ernie Koy.

Goes Into Slump

So what happened? So Medwick went into a bad slump, was benched by Brooklyn for weak hitting and now is batting only .281. The Dodgers slid out of first place and their pennant chances almost have evaporated. On the other side of the picture Koy turned into a good ball player at St. Louis, the Cardinals got up momentum and apparently are getting ready to beat the Dodgers out of second place.

Mr. MacPhail needs a headache powder, but Messrs. Breadon and Rickey may require more serious medical attention. At last reports they were laughing themselves sick.

Their condition is particularly grave because they had just recovered from laughing themselves sick at Mr. Wrigley of the Cubs, and should not be going into another spell right now. Mr. Wrigley got a yen just like Mr. MacPhail's, but the object of his yen was Dizzy Dean. Breadon and Rickey allowed as to how that one could be talked over, too.

The result was that the Cubs got Dean and the Cardinals got Pitchers Clyde Shoun and Curt Davis, outfielder Tuck Stainback and $135,000.

Curt Davis was used as added bait in the deal with the Dodgers.

The 185,000 is still in the pockets of Messrs. Breadon and Rickey.

The next number on the program, ladies and gentleman, will be a duet by MacPhail and Wrigley. The little number they have chosen is "The St. Louis Blues."

transmit approval of the plan to foreign minister Mihail Manoilescu, it was said.

Rumania will throw the bulk of her army into a new line of defense near the Russian border as soon as territorial disputes with Bulgaria and Hungary have been settled definitely, diplomatic sources reported tonight.

The Rumanian - Bulgarian settlement of the Dobruja question awaits only formal signature, but the Transylvanian dispute with Hungary still is hanging fire.

The Rumanian general staff, diplomats said, already is working on plans to make the Siretul river an "impregnable section line of defense" which Rumanians are convinced they could hold, even against the Red army.

Feeling Tense

Withdrawal of certain troops and supplies from the Soviet-Rumanian border, mentioned in last night's communique, now are disclosed to have been made to the Siretul line.

There is no official confirmation of rumors of new Russian frontier incidents. Authorities said these probably were merely "amplification of earlier reports" of the clashes occuring there earlier this week.

The delicacy of the Russo-Rumanian situation was emphasized by reports the mixed Russian-Rumanian commission sitting in Odessa for the last two months is swamped with complaints, demands and complicated technical problems arising out of the transfer of Bessarabia to Russio. Feeling still is tense along the new border.

In the early days he operated a grocery store on the corner of Lincoln avenue and Ruth street and later he engaged in the logging business in the winter and did truck farming and draying in the summer months. Mr. Parsek retired about 25 years ago.

Fifty-four years ago August 10 he married Martha Mollus in this city.

HOUSE DRAFT BILL EXTENDS AGE 21 TO 45

rection. It was decided that Smith and Brooks should work out such a provision over the week-end, to be presented to the house as a committee amendment.

The senate's big appropriation bill contains funds and authorizations for starting work on a "two-ocean navy," and for purchasing the myriad items of equipment necessary to maintain an army of 1,200,000.

Noting that congress would vote to spend more than $11,000,000,000 for defense at this session, Senator Vandenberg said that all new taxes would net but $900,000,000 for the year, and asserted:

"I share the country's enthusiasm for national defense, but I know that costs money and somebody will have to pay for it."

"It is no time to criticize," retorted Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.), in charge of the bill for the appropriations committee. "We must not spare in expense for defense."

Vandenberg heatedly denied he was criticizing. He had voted for all the previous defense appropriations, he said, and firmly believed in "total defense." He added that "in the final analysis the public credit is the first line of defense."

Four Dearborn Boys Admit $13,000 Haul; Nine In Theft Gang

Port Huron, Mich., Aug. 29 (AP)—Four Dearborn youths, all under 21 years of age, pleaded guilty in circuit court today of stealing approximately $13,000 in cash and government bonds on July 20 from a Marine City lumber concern.

The quartet, accused by police of being members of a gang of at least ninth youths who staged numerous safe robberies in Michigan, was remanded to the St. Clair county jail to await sentencing by Judge Laurie O. Telfer. Earlier in the day the four youths waived hearing in justice court.

Those taken into court today were William Willingham, 20; Mastion Neuman, 19; Ronald Finch, 18, and Doyle Dickinson, 17.

Five other alleged members of the gang are held in various Michigan cities. Police said the prisoners admitted 17 burglaries, including thefts at Port Huron, Dearborn, Muskegon, West Branch, Marine City, Pontiac, Detroit, Melvindale, Romulus, Hart, Trenton, and Clare.

Building Business Booming In America

BY ROGER W. BABSON

En Route to Babson Park,—Monday is labor's day. Labor has come a long way in the half century since this day was first made a holiday. American workingmen are in the most enviable—but most vulnerable—position of those of any nation in the world. I sincerely hope that their blessings—and their dangers—will seriously be considered and discussed on Monday because the future of their blessings depends on the recognition of their dangers.

This especially applies to labor's part in the defense program. Defense is not only a military problem for us. It is a construction and production problem. Before we can turn out 50,000 planes, gigantic plants must be put up. Before we can launch our "second" navy, more shipyards must be constructed. Before tanks can be turned out in real numbers, new machines and new machine shops must be built. Thousands of homes near the defense areas must be put up. Airfields, barracks, supply depots, thousands of auxiliary items must be planned and built. In short, the first step in defending America is a mammoth construction job the like of which the world has never seen.

Heaviest Since 1930

This first step is already under way. Awards, covering both industrial and home building, this summer were the heaviest since 1930. Of these awards, 25 per cent can be traced to defense work. As the weeks wear into months, as summer turns into winter, current defense building may seem like a drop in the bucket. America may be heading into the most frenzied construction period in her history. Speed in this work is essential—and the speed depends on many factors—including the cooperation of both employers and wage workers.

If American labor follows in the footsteps of French labor, it will be years before we are ready to defend ourselves. Perhaps we will be too late. I implore labor to realize that in a Fascist system of government, there is no place for unions, for short hours, for high pay. The first thing Hitler did was to "hit the trade unions so hard they never rise again." Only a few days ago, the powerful French labor unions were dissolved by the Petain government. Labor leaders in the United States should remember this—especially those in Oregon, Washington, and California!

Highest Wages In World

Maybe I am worrying unduly over the attitude of labor. But anyone who knows the story of leadership in certain of our unions—particularly the building trades—undoubtedly shares the same misgivings that I do. Wage rates in the construction business are the highest in the world for any broad group of skilled trades. The industry has been in the doldrums for years because building costs were so high, it was cheaper for people to rent than build. This year the industry has begun to show marked signs of revival, despite peak costs of both labor and materials. Yet, our building tradesmen, highest paid in the world, are pushing up their wages, cutting down their hours again!

Residential building has been getting a little more courage each year since 1932. Only in 1937 was there a let-down,—due to the runaway increase in both labor and material costs! Monthly building contracts are making new peaks since 1929, but so are construction costs, while rents are making no progress in either direction. The recent rise in costs has been due entirely to mark-ups in wages which have more than offset declines in prices of building materials. Defense building, coupled with a national rising demand for new homes, sets the stage for a great building boom—provided wages and hours do not get out of hand!

State Fair Opens In Detroit Today

Detroit, Aug. 29 (AP) — Michigan's 1940 state fair, with $100,000 in prizes for exhibitors, opens at the fairgrounds tomorrow.

Although Governor Dickinson is scheduled to open the fair officially at 5 p. m., the gates will swing open for visitors and a program of entertainment will start hours before the formalities.

Demonstrations of plane finding at high altitudes by United States Army searchlight crews will provide nightly spectacles. The beams will be projected seven miles high.

Farm entries include 1,300 head of cattle, 300 horses, 800 sheep, 600 swine, 300 rabbits, 500 pigeons and more than 1,400 chickens.

The fair will continue through September 8.

Iron County Orders Quarantine On Polio

Iron River, Mich., Aug. 29, (AP)—A quarantine of Iron county was ordered today by Dr. T. E. Camper, county health department director, following the infantile paralysis death of Dorothy Mahon, 15-year-old daughter of R. C. Mahon, a mine superintendent.

Dr. Camper directed the closing of all churches, theaters, taverns and public halls, and ordered all children under 16 years of age to remain off the streets.

MAIL IS CENSORED

Hamilton, Bermuda, Aug. 29, (AP)—British censors removed 425 of 1,200 bags of mail today from the American export liner Exochorda on her arrival from Lisbon enroute to New York.

DIVE BOMBERS SWOOP DOWN ON NAVY BASE

spread out over English towns and countryside.

A lone raider over a southeast coast town dropped a number of scream bombs without causing much property damage and with no casualties reported.

Some houses were damaged when about 20 high explosive bombs and several fire-starters fell in a northeast coast town.

Nerves Under Strain

Thus, it appeared that a "nuisance" visitation was under way—one designed not so much to destroy London buildings as to strain London nerves.

At the same time other raiders were over British towns—northeast, northwest, southwest, southeast.

Summing up yesterday's daylight operations, the ministry of home security declared the Germans had machine-gunned civilians in the Scilly Isles and in a southwest town, that a "small number" of children had been injured, and some fires set off by Nazi incendiary bombs.

Swift-rising fighter planes earlier had scattered and put to flight a 200-plane wave of German bombers heading again for London, even while the eager young bombers of the royal air force told their stories of splashing blacked-out Berlin with "bright, white fires" in their first major raid on the German capital.

Nine German planes were declared to have been destroyed by late afternoon.

Formations Broken Up

The German raiders this afternoon were engaged high above the Thames estuary, and witnesses said they were too preoccupied with swarming spitfires, defiants and hurricanes to unload a single bomb. The invaders broke their lofty formations and raced southeast for the channel.

A few hours later a strong formation of German Messerschmitt fighters swarmed to the outskirts of a south coast town at 20,000 feet and swooped to attack barrage balloons. Spitfire and hurricane pilots fought them off, using machine-guns against the Germans' aerial cannon. Three planes came crashing down, one of them British.

Today's battle over the Thames estuary, which turned spiraling exhaust streams into a frosty lacework against the sky, marked the high point of daylight aerial activity for both belligerents.

It was the most ambitious effort in the Germans' daytime followup of a night of fire-making and explosive bombing such as England and Wales had never seen before. All parts of the country reported fires, demolition and death or injury to civilians as a result of the Wednesday to Thursday night assault.

It was London's worst night of the war.

Other fighting in the southeast and over two Welsh towns today were minor actions and at day's end there were no reports of damage or casualties.

Preparing for More

Despite the comparative lull, both Britain and Germany seemed to be building up to even fiercer retaliatory attacks.

The admiralty and air ministry joined in picturing far-flung assaults during the preceding 24 hours on plane factories, oil plants and airfields in Germany—aside from Berlin—and oil tanks, a motor patrol vessel and a supply ship along the German-controlled Norwegian coast. (The Germans insisted the raids on Berlin hit no military objectives, but killed 10 and wounded many in residential sectors).

The admiralty sent its own dive bombers over the Norwegian coast yesterday. These planes which the British call Skuas (after a gull found along the north European coast) scored direct hits on two remaining tanks of an oil depot previously bombed.

Ranging out from there the skuas left burning a motor patrol vessel in a Norwegian fjord and scored two hits on a 2,000-ton supply vessel, according to the admiralty.

"All our aircraft returned safely," the communique concluded.

Officially Britain emphasized the "apparent aimlessness" of Germany's raids and minimized their effects on industrial production and morale.

Symbolic of the country's grim decision to "carry on" in face of all contingencies was the appearance of King George at a northwest shipyard with a service revolver strapped to his Sam Browne belt. He and Queen Elizabeth each drove rivets into the keel plates of a new warship.

An air ministry official said that the Germans' "apparent objective of terrorizing" the civilian population of London had failed completely.

Baer And Comiskey Clash Next Month

New York, Aug. 29 (AP)—Promoter Jack Kearns announced today that Patrick Edward Comiskey, the Paterson, N. J., heavyweight, and Max Baer, former world's champion, would meet in Jersey City "the week of September 23."

He said Baer and his manager, Ancil Hoffman, had accepted his offer and that they would leave the coast immediately, arriving here by plane to sign the formal agreement Tuesday.

At that time, Kearns said the exact date of the fight—probably "the later part of the week"—and the length of the bout will be announced.

The vice presidential nominee characterized President Roosevelt as a symbol of democracy, particularly to the western nations.

"He has proved his friendship for them by more than seven years of fair dealing as a good neighbor," the speaker said. "Hitler must not be permitted to break the solidarity of the Americas.

Farm Program Rapped

"Time after time the president voiced the broadest possible warnings to the public in an effort to stir our people from their slumber. For these efforts he was charged with being a warmonger."

The candidate said the GOP has selected "a campaign manager who in 15 years in congres has never voted for one vital constructive farm law."

Wallace also said the Republicans voted 106 to 38 against appropriations for commodity loans on farm crops "four weeks ago in congress."

"Mind you," he observed, "this attempt to deal a mortal blow to the farm program was made only five weeks after the Republican party in solemn convention had pledged itself to help the farmer, including in such help commodity loans. * * * The Republican leaders say nice things about the farm program to get votes from the farmer. But when it comes to voting for the farmer, they don't deliver the goods."

Wallace said farm income and factory payrolls, "the two strong legs of recovery, have both been more than doubled" since 1933. Business profits, he added, "have been restored and increased."

The following committee was appointed and was in charge of soliciting memberships and service contracts: Peder Pedersen, Semer Thorsen, Arthur Sundstrom, Wilmer Larson, Charles Williams, John Fallstrom, and Martin Erickson.

The maps and other details have been submitted to Washington, D. C., and are in the process of examination as to feasibility. Indications are that with a few additional signers the extension will be approved and every effort is being made to start construction in such time, so that the people will have service this fall.

Newberry Sawmill To Run 2 Shifts

Newberry—The officials of the Newberry Lumber and Chemical company have announced that, beginning September 3, their sawmill will be operated both day and night.

The mill is operated on an eight-hour day basis, and when the night shift begins, it will mean employment for an additional 35 men. It has also been announced that the pay of the mill employes will be increased 5 per cent.

CAMPGROUND IMPROVED

Newberry — CCC crews from Camp Paradise have installed stoves, tables, a well and other standard state forest camp ground equipment, at a spot in the Lake Superior State forest near the month of the Tahquemenon river. This becomes the fortieth developed site in the state forest camp ground chain.

The new site located near the bridge over the Tahquemenon, half a mile upstream from Whitefish Bay, has long been popular with campers, even without accommodations, which now are sufficient for 12 to 15 camping parties. It is accessible both to canoeists and vacationers traveling by automobile.

Bureau's Lure Map Will Be Re-Issued

Marquette, Mich.—Some years ago the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau published a "lure map" of the district in color, which had an extensive distribution throughout the country and was in great demand.

Constant demands for re-issue have decided the Bureau to prepare a new and even better edition of the former map, and copies will go with each of the Lure Books to be printed and distributed next season. The map is now being drawn and it will be used as an insert in the next book, and will no doubt add much to the attractiveness of this much-sought publication.

Schools Open Here Tuesday As Scheduled

Public schools of Escanaba will open Tuesday morning as scheduled, Supt. of Schools John A. Lemmer said yesterday after conferring with county health officials and physicians.

There was no change in the infantile paralysis situation in the county yesterday and health officials and physicians agreed that there was little or no danger of a serious enough spread of the disease in this county to warrant delay in opening of the schools.

New junior high school students are asked to meet at the junior high school at 10 o'clock this morning for classification. The meeting will be held in the William W. Oliver auditorium.

Briefly Told

Scouts to Parade — All Boy Scouts in Escanaba will take part in the Labor Day parade. The Scouts, in as complete uniform as possible, will meet at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning at the Junior high school to join the line of march.

Raps Racial Prejudice

ALL fair-minded and tolerant citizens will applaud Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican presidential nominee, for his firm stand against those who endeavor to stir up racial prejudice in this country.

An editorial in Social Justice, official organ of Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, Royal Oak radio priest, recently expressed a preference for the Republican nominee. Willkie's reaction was that he was not interested in the support of anybody who stands for any form of prejudice as to anybody's race or religion, or who is in support of any foreign economic or political philosophy in this country.

Willkie also told reporters that he was gratified that Joseph McWillians, anti-Semitic candidate for Congress in New York's Yorkville district, was opposed to him.

Willkie's forthright attitude is another setback for those forces in this country who are bent upon creating disunity among the people through the fanning of racial and religious prejudices. It has been the Nazi technique to arouse suspicion and hatred against the Jews in other countries. This was done in Czecho-Slovakia, Austria, Poland and France before the Hitler invasions.

If America is to remain democratic and free, it also must remain free of religious and racial bigotry. This is the Plymouth Rock upon which America was founded.

Senate Favors Draft

THE bill providing for compulsory military training for men from 21 to 31 during peace-time was passed by the senate by a vote of 58 to 21, and now goes to the house, where adoption is also expected.

The vote in the senate reveals that conscription was no partisan issue. Michigan's two senators, Vandenberg, a Republican, and Brown, a Democrat, joined in opposing the measure. Of the 31 senators who voted against conscription, 17 were Democrats and 10 were Republicans.

The bill was drafted by Senator Burke, Democrat, who oftentimes has criticized New Deal policies, and Rep. Wadsworth, Republican. One of the bitterest foes is Senator George Norris, veteran liberal and staunch Roosevelt supporter, who views the peace-time draft as a move toward dictatorship.

Many other liberals, however, disagree with Senator Norris' views. They point out that other democratic nations, Switzerland, for example, have had peace-time military conscription for years. They argue that the conscription idea is truly democratic, for it calls upon all citizens to contribute their share to the defense of the nation.

We are a peace-loving nation, and have been inclined to abhor anything' that savors of militarism. But these are changed times. The small nations of Europe pinned their hopes on neutrality, but learned to their regret that it offered no security against Nazi imperialism. America also must adjust herself to the new conditions that have arisen in a war-crazed world.

Open the Way to Alaska!

THERE is no longer any valid reason for delay — the building of the overland highway to Alaska should be started at once!

For years this project has languished. There were Canadian fears that United States influence might be too heavy along such a highway—that it meant some sacrifice of sovereignty. There were American fears that it meant dumping money into a project which would principally benefit Canada.

Neither fear means anything today. Canada and the United States have submerged all last lingering distrusts in mutual understanding of a mutual problem of defense. And the need for safeguarding Alaska by development as well as by military establishments is now clear.

Well, what are we waiting for? The 1200 miles of this highway would cost only around $14,000,000. It is hard to see how a more valuable defense asset could be acquired for the same amount. There need be no quibbling about the share of the two countries. Canada is very busy right now. Let the United States build the road, and settle later with the Canadians for their share. We can trust them to be fair.

The engineers have studied the situation. They say it is practicable. China's experience in supplying material for two years of an exhausting war by truck over long roads despite the bombers shows that the road has practical value.

But more than that. Most money spent on preparedness has no value in enriching civilian life. You build shells and guns because you have to, but you do not pretend that they are of any value except for stark defense.

The Alaska road might well be of the highest civilian value in addition to its defense worth.

It would open up the northern reaches of British Columbia and the Yukon territory and make them accessible to the Canadian and American west coast.

It would open Alaska to those who might not be able to afford steamer or airway fares, but who could make the trek via-tin-can" cavalcade.

The road is one defense measure which could not possibly be construed as a threat to anybody. It unites a strong defense measure with a forward-looking civilian improvement.

Leon Trotsky

TROTSKY, towering figure of the Russian revolution, is gone. Perhaps we shall never know clearly whether his murderer was a crafty agent of the revolution Trotsky helped to start, or simply a screwball whose mind wobbled at the wrong moment. But theories are advanced; neither is proved thus far.

His death meant little to most Americans, for his life was lived, his trumphs achieved, his exile and death consummated in an atmosphere strange to us. But one little point is worth noting:

A chronic revolutionary conspirator like Trotsky was born Lev Davidovich Bronstein, of a prosperous Jewish family in the Russia of the Czars. He grew up in a country in which he saw his own people persecuted with sadistic relentlessness, a country of medieval privilege and discrimination, a country in which every liberal and humanitarian impulse was stifled and strangled by whip and cell.

This produced Leon Trotsky. Remember it the next time someone comes whispering with insinuations of race prejudice, of class hatred, of suppression, repression, and violence.

AROUND THE PENINSULA
(Ironwood Globe)

The expression "lumber shover" is rarely used these days, though it was common in Menominee and Escanaba in the early lumbering days. Alex Girard, whose death occurred at Escanaba last week, was known as a lumber shover of the old school. Lumber shovers used to wait in port cities for the sound of a boat's whistle and then rush to the dock with their leather aprons to start the job of loading lumber. They loaded vessels direct from the lumber piles on the docks and their agility in the handling of lumber was the marvel of youngsters who used to watch them.

Whether it was prompted by the chilly weather of last week or a desire to get an early start, the winter sports committee of the Manistique Chamber of Commerce has already held a meeting and laid preliminary plans for a comprehensive winter sports program. A winter sports club is to be organized and funds will be raised to build an addition to the ski slide and build skiing and snowshoe trails. Members of the committee are agreed that Manistique has "missed the boat" in not promoting a winter sports program, but are determined it shall not happen next winter.

Benjamin Chynoweth, social science instructor in the Detroit schools, ought to know a good deal more about Isle Royale than the average native of the Peninsula. This year marks the ninth successive season that he has spent a part of the summer on the island. Unlike the fellow who goes there to get a mess of trout in one of the streams that flow out of the island, he thoroughly explores the Keweenaw possession on his visits. At Detroit, it is said, he is considered quite an authority on Isle Royale.

The Lloyd Manufacturing Co. at Menominee, which has specialized for years in baby carriages and furniture, may eventually develop quite a business of manufacturing of hospital beds and equipment. Beds and bassinets at the new $300,000 hospital in Marinette, Wis., across the river from Menominee, were constructed at the Lloyd plant. They were made of metal and are considered the last word in hospital beds. So many favorable comments have been made by visiting physicians regarding the beds that more than likely there will develop quite a demand for them all over the country.

With the contract awarded to L. W. Brumm, Inc., another step has been taken to give Marquette one of the most modern athletic plants in the peninsula. It will have a football field, a practice field and an oval cinder track around the field. Eventually a large stadium and field house will be constructed. Plans also call for building tennis, shuffle board and horseshoe pitching courts and a soft ball field. Completion of the entire plant is hoped for in 1941, providing the school board can see its way clear to furnish all of the necessary funds. The Brumm contract alone calls for expenditure of more than $20,000.

The Disabled American veterans of Iron Mountain have finally realized $200 for sponsoring the appearance of a carnival earlier in the season. In the expense account presented to the carnival, the DAV specified the license fee at $375, but actually the fee was only $175. Nevertheless, the whole amount was sent to the city clerk of Iron Mountain, who didn't know whether the city should keep it or turn over $200 to the veterans. Mayor Giacobina felt so badly about overcharging the carnival that he refered to it as a case of "hijacking." Most city officials wonder, however, if there is such a thing as hijacking a carnival.

Sault Ste. Marie is realizing considerably from its publicity about the closing of the Sault locks and the subsequent decision of war department to permit visitors to see the locks until Labor Day. In a single day last week, no less than 1,000 persons visited the locks and the crowd at one time actually caused a jam at the upper gates of the first lock. And there are more to come. Numerous residents of the Peninsula who have not visited the locks and thought little about them until they read about the controversy over closing them are now planning to make a visit to Sault Ste. Marie.

LABOR AND FORESTS
(Milwaukee Journal)

The Wisconsin State Federation of Labor, meeting at Janesville, received a resolution to "support a long range program to reforest Wisconsin's forest lands." At this writing, action upon it, of course, cannot be known. However, the one way to get good forests back onto the lands of this state is to engage in a "long range" program of reforestation.

The one way to make a forest program directly beneficial to labor is so to devise it that it steadily will employ labor over a period of years.

We do not believe, however, that those who prepared the Wisconsin federation's resolution were thinking narrowly. They undoubtedly were thinking as do almost all other Wisconsin citizens who are conservation minded:

That this state, regardless of who benefits directly, needs a good forest cover; that it should gradually restore its lumber industry; that it should put its great acreage of waste lands back into a forest crop; that it thereby should benefit agriculture, the tourist movement, the resort business, the recreation seekers.

And organized labor's resolution writers show an understanding of the problem when they stress "long range" in connection with a forest program.

Forests cannot be restored by policies that change from year to year, or with each political administration. They cannot succeed underplans that are disrupted every little while.

To grow forest trees you must plod along patiently—planting, releasing, protecting against fires, allowing nature slowly to function over a period up to 100 years.

It is well for the state that organized labor shows constructive interest in the reconstruction of Wisconsin's forests.

Conscription will be voted successful in this country if it does no more than tuck in the shirttails of raw and splendid youth.

Washington — In Germany and, more particularly, in Italy, a mighty squawk is being raised over the United States law which compels all aliens to register and to file their fingerprints with the government.

Robert Farinacci, one of the big shots in the Fascist outfit, moans in his paper, "Regime Fascista," published in Cremona, that in America it is a crime to belong to the people who produced Columbus.

The exquisite joke about this particular sentence is that Farinacci is one of the leading anti-Semites in Italy. A great Spanish writer recently wrote about Columbus that all evidences available show he was descended from Spanish Jewish refugees settled in Italy.

Farinacci goes on to say all Germans and Italians in America are fingerprinted as if they were criminals.

—ENGLAND KEEPS CLOSE TAB—

The fact is the United States is one of the last great countries to adopt some measure of control of the aliens within its borders. All over Europe, long before the present war, aliens were the subject of government measures.

In democratic England, for instance, an American or any other alien, if he remained in the country more than 60 days, had to report to the nearest police station with two photographs of himself one for the files of the police, the other to be pasted in a police book the alien must keep.

On the police record all details about the alien were copied from his passport and kept for future reference. Every time the alien moved from one city to another in the United Kingdom, he had to check out with the police of one town and check in with the police of the other.

And even though he continued to live in the same town, he had to report every change of address, even if he moved from 20 Baker street to 21 Baker street.

Well remembered is the case of an American singing comedienne, a great favorite in London, who failed to notify the police she had changed her home address. Her name was shining in blazing lights two feet high over the theater where she acted, but she was haled into court, severely lectured by the judge and fined $25 for her heinous offense.

By its legislation America is simply falling into line. And incidentally, the alien registration law does not apply only to Germans and Italians, but to all aliens alike.

—RELIEF CASES SHOW INCREASE—

Ninety-Eight urban areas in the United States had an increase in July over June of 1 per cent in the number of general relief cases and an increase of 3 per cent in their cost.

But the remarkable thing was that in quite a number of towns, while the cases increased numerically, the cost was less. Probability is this was because needy did not get coal and that more fruits and vegetables were supplied than meat and other heavy and costlier foodstuffs.

Data received by the U. S. Social Security Board came from 30 states and the District of Columbia. The board defines general relief as including all state and local relief in cash and goods extended to the needy, except public assistance to the aged, blind, dependent children and aid t oveterans.

Total for the urban areas reported shows 663,910 cases, costing $19,352,800 for the month of July.

As was to be expected, New York City led with 154,000 cases on relief in July. Other big cities reported: Chicago, 88,544; Los Angeles, 50,883; Philadelphia, 58,495; Pittsburgh, 34,029; Cleveland, 21,162; Milwaukee, 19,527; San Francisco, 11,936; Cincinnati, 6840.

Hollywood—Every morning at 7:45 Fred Astaire telephones Producer Boris Morros and asks, "How are the rushes?" About half an hour later, Paulette Goddard calls with the same question. The moon-faced, intensely earnest executive, who always goes early to the studio to see the previous day's shots on "Second Chorus," tells 'em the scenes look fine.

Presently the stars appear at his office and ask him to walk with them down to the set. Robert Stillman, associate producer of the picture, is already there because he also happens to be the assistant director. He used to be one before he became a producer, and doesn't mind taking orders from Director Henry Potter, whom he hired.

Morros has plenty to do because he is sort of supervising the music and scoring. All the credit for the latter job will go to Artie Shaw, who is making the orchestral arrangements, composed the principal song number, and also has an important role in the film.

Fred Astaire, who has had some tunes published, offered a new one to "Second Chorus" but voted against it after he heard the melodies whipped up by a shy, unknown young Irishman named Bernie Hanighen.

PLAYERS AREN'T BOUNCED AROUND

All such goings-on are quite unprecedented in Hollywood, and there will be considerable surprise if the musical film fails to turn in unprecedented profits. Almost everyone connected with it will have a share in the returns, and the co-operative methods and spirit are permitting its completion for less than $500,000.

That's what happens when players are working for the picture and are not just being bounced around like marionettes. For his pictures at RKO, for instance, Astaire used to rehearse six weeks before a camera turned. When filming of his dances began, they'd sometimes make as many as 50 takes of a single flash scene, and in the aggregate an entire routine would be shot hundreds of times.

The hoofing star was a little worried about dancing with Pauletted Goddard. He remembered the fruitless weeks devoted to a number he did with Joan Fontaine. It was no reflection on the actress that she couldn't learn in two months what he had devoted many years to doing. In the final editing of "Damsel in Distress," the number was cut out.

But he agreed to try it again, and Miss Goddard said she'd learn, or else. After a week, Astaire watched her and was doubtful. After three weeks, he looked in on the rehearsal stage and admitted she wasn't bad. After five weeks they tried the dance together and he was enthusiastic.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—Not much has leaked past the censors, but the British have been busy digging an extensive series of barricades along the coast of England, so that Nazi troops when they land will face a mass of barbed wire and trenches reminiscent of World War I.

This line extends from Dover in the south of England up to the Midlands, and includes machine gun nests, light artillery and heavy artillery emplacements, together with trenches and breastworks. The trenches are not very deep and are of the World War type, but American observers who have seen them figure that the British system, which covers almost every inch along the coast, will be a deadly obstacle to Nazi invaders.

Looking back on the French defenses, it will be recalled that France had almost nothing along the Belgian border, and that the artillery emplacements which General Weygand hastily threw up were few and far between. The French did not even use barbed-wire entanglements or dig trenches. German tanks moved too fast for them.

In invading England, however, the Nazis will not have tanks in any great quantities. Some may be landed, but it probably will be impossible to land entire mechanized divisions.

However, the thing to figure on in dealing with Hitler is the element of surprize. He used it against France, by aiming his blow throw Belgium and the Meuse forest where the French never expected an attack. Thus, by getting behind the Maginot Line, he rendered it valueless.

In attacking Britain, Hitler may be expected to use Ireland as another Belgium, and attack from the rear, thus rendering the British breastworks along the Channel as impotent as the French Maginot Line.

—FROM THE HEART—

Tall, plain-talking Representative James Wadsworth of New York, co-author of the compulsory military training bill, is now busy preparing for the bitter floor battle facing conscription in the House.

Every night, while pacing around the flower beds in the garden of his Georgetown home, he rehearses the speech which will open the historic debate. The other night, in the midst of a stirring passage, he suddenly stopped, then, in a loud, sharp tone, exclaimed:

"Will the bellowing member from Milwaukee please pipe down!"

Note—Doubtless he was referring to bulky, one-time Socialist John C. Schafer of Milwaukee, noted in the House for his foghorn voice, penchant for interrupting speakers, and rabid isolationism.

—ARMY'S SHORT PANTS—

A certain large textile company has just learned, to its sorrow, that it doesn't pay to try any tricks on Donald Nelson, hard-hitting Defense Procurement Coordinator.

The Army, preparing for its forthcoming large expansion, announced bids for 1,000,000 pairs of "shorts" to be made out of a specified type of cloth. Brig. General Clifford L. Corbin, chief of the Quartermaster Corps Supply Division, who collaborates closely with Nelson, sent him copies of the specifications.

Nelson, one time executive of Sears, Roebuck, is one of the greatest merchandisers in the country. He knows all the ins and outs about buying and selling. So he made a quiet investigation and discovered two interesting facts: That a certain textile firm had obtained a corner on the specified cloth, and that it had boosted the price 1½ cents a yard.

Nelson immediately informed General Corbin, and the two men put their heads together — with the result that the specifications were changed to another type of cloth, just as good and not cornered by any one firm.

So the textile company still has its cloth and the Army will get the 1,000,000 shorts it wants without being gouged.

Note—This isn't the only instance where close coordination between General Corbin and Donald Nelson has saved the Government money. By placing raincoat orders with factories at a time when they were slack, the two officials got the lowest price the Army has had to pay in many years.

THEY'RE NOT US

Just because we're up
At four in the morning,
Is no sign the rest
Of the world is adorning.
While we're sounding around
And being quite boring,
Our neighbors aspire
To keep on snoring.

But waking them up
They then aspire
To set our houses
And barns on fire.
So let's slip around,
Tip, toe, tup, —
The rest of the world
Is not yet up!

New City Report Out; They're At It Again

Mr. Taxpayer and Mr. Public Servant were arguing it out again yesterday as first issues of the second of a series of annual reports on how the city runs were made available to the public at the city clerk's office.

This 67 page book of statistics, graphs and charts is called simply, "Escanaba City Government—the Depression Years, 1929-39". The author is City Manager George E. Bean, with the aid of his secretary, Miss Hilda Olson, and other city employes. The cost of publishing was six cents per copy for 500 copies, or $30 for the whole job.

Same Characters

The volume is devoted chiefly to the cost of city services to the taxpayer and featured again are those characters of the first issue, Mr. Taxpayer (sometimes referred to as old John Q. Public) and Mr. Public Servant. Still cussing and discussing, they are, but withal it appears that they are coming to a closer understanding of each other's point of view.

In most of the pictures, accompanying the text, the two stand up and trade verbal blows face to face, but now and then they rest their skinny line-drawing frames on chairs that are just as skinny. And they end friends, with Mr. Taxpayer putting a chummy hand on the shoulder of the Public Servant. They were shaking hands at the end of the first volume.

The book is dedicated to the Escanaba Lions club and Miss Nina Ley of the Escanaba high school faculty "for their outstanding contribution to education for democracy in Escanaba during the fiscal year 1939-40 by arranging to have the Senior class take over the city government on March 4, 1940."

Setting about to show that city services are inexpensive as compared with the money folks spend privately on many items that are not as necessary to their welfare, the volume presents a series of comparative squares and figures.

Five Cents for Concerts

For instance, the approximate amount spent in the United States per year for "dancing, jazz palaces, etc." is 76 cents the report says, while in Escanaba, the per capita expenditure in 1939-40 for Band Concerts was just five cents.

The per capita expense for tobacco is $11.36 and for fire department service, 81 cents; for cosmetics, toilet soap, $8.71 as compared with 38 cents for sewage disposal; for perfume, $6.06 and for garbage disposal, 19 cents.

With each of these comparisons is a graph illustrating annual expenditures in city services over the last 10 years.

Other comparisons are: Expenditures for candy, chewing gum, hard and soft drinks (in part only), $15.15 and for operation of the city general fund, 97 cents; for jewelry, $3.80 and for care and upkeep of city buildings, 13 cents; for ice cream, $1.90 and for e ngineering services, 15 cents; for motion pictures, $11.36 and for police service, 71 cents; for furs, $2.27 and for health service; eight cents; for pleasure motoring, $37.87 and for operation and maintenance of public works, $1.27.

For golf, $3.80 and for welfare, 19 cents; for collections, hobbies, pets, $7.57 and for parks and recreation, 46 cents; for sports clothes, 38 cents and for yacht harbor expense, two cents; for entertaining, visiting, night clubs, road houses (food and service factor), $22.72 and for general contingencies and contributions to WPA projects, $1.92.

City Directory

For vacations and travel (transportation element primarily), $15.15 and for interest and sinking fund expense, 58 cents; for indoor games, cards, billards, pool, chess and the like, 76 cents and for care and maintenance of the airport, five cents; for gambling, 38 cents and for the civic advancement fund, two cents; for newspapers, tabloids and light fiction (in part) $7.57 and for library service, 28 cents.

Figures on personal commodity expenses were supplied by the Haskin Information Service, Washington, D. C., on an estimated United States population of 132,000,000.

The last part of the book reviews operating results of municipal utilities for the last fiscal year and the book also includes balance sheets showing the city's financial condition as of June 30.

One chart shows budget expenditures and the source of revenue for each, with city taxes accounting for $120,000 of the total and income from utilities and other miscellaneous sources, $178,377.60.

Tax rate and tax levy charts are given and at the front of the book as in the first issue is a Municipal Service directory, indicating with 'phone numbers who should be called for any of a variety of needs, as listed.

Ethel Busch And Francis Sromovsky Wed Here Thursday

At an eight o'clock nuptial high mass Thursday, August 29, at the St. Francis de Sales church, Miss Ethel Helen Busch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Busch, 215 Elk street, became the bride of Francis J. Sromovsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sromovsky, 231 Lake street.

Rev. Fr. Robert Sromovsky, of West DePere, a brother of the groom, was celebrant of the mass.

Miss Busch chose for her maid of honor, Miss Ann Gorsche, and for bridesmaid, Miss Ann Barkovich. Andrew Sromovsky acted as his brother's best man and Philip Barnes, cousin of the groom, was usher.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father were a gown of ivory embroidered white silk marquisette over taffeta, styled with a sweetheart neckline with sprays of orange blossoms tucked at the shoulders. The full skirt fell in graceful lines into a long train. The long sleeves ended in points over the wrists, her veil, o ftwo lengths, shoulder and finger tip lengths, was bordered in Chantilly lace and fell from a tiara of rhinestones and seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a gold cross, a gift of the groom. She carried gardenias upon an ivory prayer book with white satin streamers to which were attached fever few, maiden hair fern and white sweet peas.

The maid of honor wore a gown of Spanish rose taffeta with sweetheart neckline and a short quilted jacket and a tiara of matching velvet flowers from which a shoulder length moline veil fell. She carried an arm bouquet of Talisman roses, Briarcliff and larkspur.

The bridesmaid wore a Spanish rose moire taffeta gown with quilted bodice and jacket and she also wore a shoulder length veil which fell from a tiara of matching velvet flowers. Her bouquet was of Talisman roses, Briarcliff and larkspur.

Both Mrs. Busch and Mrs. Sromovsky chose gowns of navy blue and wore corsages of sweet peas and roses.

A wedding breakfast served at the home of the brides parents for the immediate families followed the ceremony. A large white bride's cake topped with miniature bride and groom, centered the table with beautiful arrangements of garden flowers on either side.

Mr. and Mrs. Sromovsky left for a short wedding trip to Detroit. The bride's going away outfit was a dubonnet suit with matching accessories. Upon their return they will be at home in the Finch apartments, corner of South Cedar and Arbutus.

The bride is employed at the city hall as deputy clerk and the groom, who attended St. Norbert's college at DePere, is employed as electrician at the Inland Lime and Stone Co.

Wireless at Island Saves Human Life

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—The wireless telephone installation on Mackinac Island, one of only five such services on the Great Lakes chain, aided materially in saving a human life here August 23.

William Turpin, member of the crew of the yacht Mizpah, owned and operated by Commander Eugene MadConald, president of the Zenith Radio corporation, Chicago, was taken suddenly ill while the yacht was anchored in MacGregor Bay near Killarney, Ontario. Commander MacDonald telephoned H. P. Jordan of this city that Turpin, accompanied by the commander and the ship's nurse, would be brought here in the amphibian plane of Paul Crosley, owner of the Cincinnati Reds, who had flown from his home to the Georgian Bay country about the time the Mizpah arrived.

Mr. Jordan met the plane with an ambulance at the Sault, Ontario, airport. The flight from MacGregor Bay was made in 52 minutes. Twenty-six minutes later the young patient arrived at the Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Memorial Hospital, where Dr. L. J. Hakala was ready and performed an appendectomy. Jordon, whose mother is housekeeper for Thos. E. Dewey in New York City, is doing nicely.

"The outcome is a tribute to the thoughtfulness and wonderful co-operation of Caommander MacDonald, the customs and immigration officials on both sides of St. Mary's River, and the International Transit Company, which cleared the way for passage across the river in record time," said Mr. Jordan. "Quick use of the wireless system saved the day."

Dickinson Opposes Proposal To Amend Civil Service Setup

Lansing, Aug. 27 (AP)—Governor Dickinson placed himself on record today as an opponent of the proposed civil service amendment to the constitution.

The merit system of state employment, the governor declared, should be left to the legislature, which is responsible to the people who elect its members, and has no place in the constitution.

His prepared statement said he favored "a good civil service law" if enacted by the legislature, and expressed a thought that the present civil service "act is not yet perfect."

"However," Dickinson said, "I am not in favor of putting the civil service into the constitution the way it is proposed by the present amendment."

Osborns Disagree On Willkie Status

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Aug. 27 (AP)—The qualities of Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential candidate, are disputed editorially by former Gov. Chase S. Osborn and his son, George A. Osborn.

In a recent issue of the Sault Ste. Marie Evening News, formerly the property of the elder Osborn and now published by his son, the former Governor characterized the Republican candidate as "irresponsible, unstable and uncertain except where his own welfare is at stake, and a former Democrat who was practically kicked out of the party."

The younger Osborn sees Willkie as a man "with a capable grasp of the problems with which we are faced."

SCHOOLS BEGIN WORK SEPT. 3

Munising Has Several Changes In Faculty Since Last Year

Munising, Aug. 29—All Munising township schools will open Wednesday morning, September 4. This opening on Wednesday has been set the past three years so students and teachers would not be required to travel in the heavy Labor Day traffic when returning to school.

There have been seven resignations from the faculty since school closed. Hazel Lowrey, Kenneth Massey, Mary Walsh, Alice Jaaksi and Charles Grose have left to accept positions elsewhere; Arthur Carlson has accepted a scholarship at the University of Michigan; Eleanor Carmody has taken a year's leave of absence for study at the University of Michigan. The positions of Alice Jaaki and Eleanor Carmody will not be filled as it has been necessary to reduce the number of teachers for lack of funds.

Under the program of state aid, schools cannot be operated with an average of less than thirty pupils per teacher. "Last year these funds were still further reduced by a 17 percent cut," said Mr. Wood, "which makes it necessary to increase the average number of pupils per teacher still further. Last year the schools operated at a deficit, and it is necessary that this be wiped out and that operation be held at a minimum to meet both the reduction in local and state income."

A list of teachers and their assignments for this year follows:

William G. Mather high school: R. W. Jackson, English 12, journalism, principal; Berwyn Anthony, chemistry, physics; Howard Berkel, American history, American government; Delphine Carlson, general mathematics, plane geometry, advanced algebra; Josie Clark, sewing 1, art 1, French 1 and 11; Albert Clute, band, chorus, English 7, English 8; Rosella Cole, bookkeeping, stenography 1 and 2; Mary Harvey, English 8 and 9, public speaking; John Harrold, biology, modern history; A. K. Jackson, civics, manual arts 7; Mary Jackson, English 8 and 10; Madge Mayforth, physical training, civics, English 7; Martha Mehnert, cooking 8, advanced cooking; Henry Nelson, manual arts 7 and 8, advanced manual arts, auto mechanics; Raymond Nadeau, Latin 1 and 2, general business training; Richard Percy, beginning algebra, English 11; Emil Peterson, social science 7 and 8; Elmer Schelke, general science 7, 8 and 9; Lynn Vendien, arithmetic 7 and 8, Robert Villemure, physical training, general science 7, social science 7.

Melstrand school: Kenneth Peterson, grades 1 to 6.

The Wetmore vacancy, caused through the transfer of Verl Wills, has not yet been filled.

Regulations governing the entrance age to kindergarten and first grade are the same as in previous years. Any child who will be five on or before December 31 should enter kindergarten at the very beginning of school. Any pupil who will be six on or before December 31 should enroll in the first grade.

Hearing Delayed In Murder at Tenary

Munising, Aug. 29 — Examination of Mrs. Hilma Laytonen and her son, Charles, 33, of Trenary, held in the murder of Victor Louma, 52, of Trenary, was postponed last night until next Tuesday. It had been scheduled for this morning at Trenary.

Postponement came after Attorney L. E. Garvin of Marquette, representing the defendants, had notified authorities that he could not be present this morning.

Luoma, a woodsman, was found dead in his shack near the Laytonen home on July 24. A coroner's jury found that he died as the result of a shotgun wound at the hands of persons unknown.

The Laytonens were arraigned Tuesday on a joint first degree murder charge and asked examination.

THEAKER-LA FAVE

Munising, Aug. 29—In a marriage ceremony performed at Bancroft, Mich., Miss Evilda LaFave, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth LaFave of this city, became the bride of Donovan C. Theaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Boardman of Bancroft.

The attendants were Wallace Bodell of Grand Rapids and Miss Anna Ozarich of Lansing.

The bride was attired in a formal gown of powder blue crepe over silver and carried a corsage of salmon and white gladioli tied with a silver ribbon. The bridesmaid wore a gown of rose crepe and carried a corsage that corresponded with that of the bride.

The wedding is a culmination of an acquaintance formed by Mr. and Mrs. Theaker when they were attending the Michigan School for the Deaf at Flint.

The groom is employed at the Webb Printing company of LaValle, Wis., where the couple will reside.

Artists Begin Murals On Fairgrounds Walls

Fifteen artists, some with long hair and some with berets, had moved into the Exhibition building of the Upper Peninsula State Fair grounds here yesterday, and with palettes, brushes and cans of paint were beginning work on the walls of the building.

They are making preliminary sketches for a series of murals to characterize the participating counties, in line with a plan for streamlining the fair both as to appearances and as to attractions.

The artistic motif is being supplied through the WPA art projects in various counties, cooperating with the fair management and with the counties, each of which has arranged for its own mural. Aari Lehti of Iron Mountain is supervisor.

Final details on designs for each county were not available, but Harold P. Lindsay, fair manager and secretary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, reported that for Delta county, the ore docks, the smelt jamboree and winter sports are among the activities to be indicated in the painting.

Ontonagon county will have a backdrop of the Porcupine mountains in its picture; Schoolcraft county should have some blueberries; Alger may stress fishing and scenery; Marquette will show some mines and perhaps some educational ideas and other counties will stress activities which are most prominent or attractive in their localities.

Already, Mr. Lindsay said, twice as much space has been sold in the building as has been sold in any of the last 12 years.

Are You Superstitious
• ABOUT WARTS?

BY RUTH FARRAR

NEA Special Correspondent

Have you any warts? Then count them and put the same number of rocks in a sack. Drop the sack in the middle of a crossroads. The first passer-by to pick up the sack will inherit the warts.

If this fails, don't despair. American folklore in the large collection of Dr. B. A. Cartwright of the University of Oklahoma includes hundreds of superstitious wart cures. Here are other ways of losing the pesky things:

Squeeze juice from a bean leaf on a wart. In three days the wart will disappear.

Your wart will go away if you rub it in dirt from a new grave.

Wear a copper cent on a string around your neck and your warts will leave.

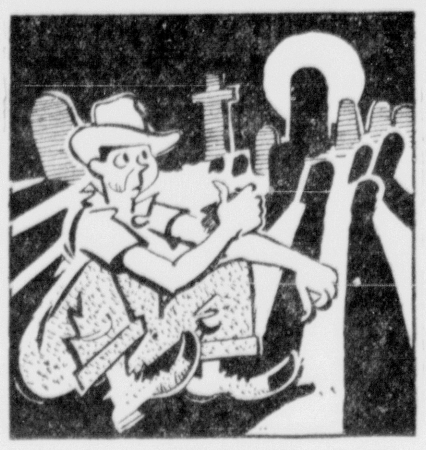
If you steal your neighbor's dishrag, your warts will disappear.

To cause warts to go away, rub them with the juice of a dandelion, with tobacco juice, with milkweed juice, or rub them with a stalk of green mustard.

Warts will go away if you sell them to someone and receive money for them.

A third son born after his father's death has magic power to remove warts.

Count all your warts and tell your aunt how many you have; if she does not tell anyone, your warts will disappear.



New grave dirt removes warts.

Rub your warts with coffee grounds, put the grounds in a bag and bury it. The warts will leave.

To make your warts leave, wash them at midnight in water found in a hollow tree-stump.

Rub poke-root on your warts to make them disappear.

Rub your wart with a grain of corn and drop the grain into a well. The wart will leave when the grain rots.

Catch a live fish and rub it on your warts to cure them.

Hold a hailstone on your wart until it melts. The wart will go in a short time.

Put a katydid on your wart. It will remove the wart.

Tie as many knots in a twine string as you have warts. Suspend the string under the eaves of the house where the water can drip on the knots. It will wash all your warts off.

That one can rid himself of warts by going mountain climbing in a thunderstorm is the belief of Leonard C. Chatwin, a young scientist at the University of British Columbia.

Recently, Chatwin, a member of the British Columbia Mountaineering Club, described how, with a fellow member, he had been caught in a thunderstorm while scaling an 8000-foot peak. Chatwin's partner, who had warts, lost them a week after the mountain thunderstorm and attributed it to the forks of invisible lightning that struck their axes, setting up a "steady buzzing hiss."

NEPT: Cure superstitions.

PATENTS ARE SOLD

Menominee — Sale of patents, equipment, and machinery for the manufacture of sanitary napkins was made recently by the Southern Kraft corporation to the International Celucotton Products company, a subsidiary of the Kimberly-Clark corporation of Appleton, it was learned today.

The International Celucotton Products company, maker of Kotex, was the principal competitor of the Veldown company in the manufacture of sanitary napkins. Sale of patent rights includes the exclusive fluffing process. The Appleton firm will take over production on October 5.

Southern Kraft's decision to discontinue manufacture of the product will have no detrimental effect upon the corporation's local industrial activity, it was said, and will give the firm an opportunity to concentrate and expand in the manufacture of facial and toilet tissues which will necessitate the production of larger paper supplies.

Christian Science Churches

"Christ Jesus" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, September 1.

The Golden Text (John 3:17) is: "God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Matt. 5:16): "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 25): "Through demonstrating his control over sin and disease, the great Teacher by no means relieved others from giving the requisite proofs of their own piety. He worked for their guidance, that they might demonstrate this power as he did and understand its divine Principle."

Flowers, Plants Will Be Shown At U. P. Fair

A fairyland garden will feature this year's Floriculture Department of the Upper Peninsula State Fair, which will be held at the state fairgrounds in Escanaba, September 11-15.

The exhibit which is popular, not only with those whose hobby is flowers, but with the general fair-going public, because of its beauty, will be in charge of Mrs. M. J. Lang of this city, who is superintendent, and Mrs. L. P. Treiber, also of Escanaba, assistant superintendent.

The department entries will include special exhibits of asters and dahlias and practically every variety of seasonal blooms in the cut flower class. Among the plants will be the better known varieties as well as many rare and beautiful types.

Special groups of lilies, begonias and geraniums will be a part of the exhibit, and a number of premiums are being offered for decorative plants, ferns, palms, ivory and the like. There also will be a display of cacti and special premiums for the best arranged basket of wild flowers and the best arranged vase of wild flowers.

Basis of Judging

The quality of flowers, length of stem, foliage and tasty arrangement will be considered in judging the cut flowers, and shape, size, vigor, color in selecting the winning plants.

The department, as is generally known, is open only to amateurs.

Application Sent to Communications Commission

Application for a federal communications commission license for a police radio system in Escanaba was mailed yesterday after Chief of Police Michael F. Ettenhofer and Hugo Lillquist, superintendent of the city electrical department, had spent several hours filling in specifications on the application form.

Police said they hoped to have the system in operation by Thanksgiving. The system will include a 25 watt station, which will allow sending and receiving within a 25 mile radius, with an antenna to be located probably over the fire tower of the city hall—about 100 feet above ground.

A two way station unit, two two-way mobile units for police cars and a frequency monitor are planned to cost about $1,650.

Approval of the application is expected to take two to four weeks, all police radio operators will be required to pass examinations and other details are expected to delay the installation until November.

BAND CONCERT THIS EVENING

Ludington Park Program Depends On Weather, Director Finds

Director Frank Karas and the Escanaba Municipal band hope to put on a concert at Ludington park tonight at 8 o'clock—but final consent rests in the hands of Jupe Pluvius.

Band concerts this summer have fared very badly at the hands of the weatherman, several having been postponed because of rain. Two successive concerts scheduled for Rose park have been postponed on account of inclement weather.

Director Karas is considering digging into his musical library to find "It Ain't Gonna Rain No Mo' " and dedicate it to the weatherman—if the latter is kind enough to allow the concert to go on tonight.

And so; weather permitting, here's the program:

Grand Processional March: The Silver Trumpets ______ Viviani

Senior High Students To Register Saturday

All students who plan to enter the Escanaba Senior high school for this term are asked to get their schedules on Saturday, starting at 10 o'clock. Regular classes will begin Tuesday, September 3, as announced by Superintendent of Schools John A. Lemmer.

All new students, those coming from the Junior high and country schools, are asked to meet with Principal Edward E. Edick in the auditorium at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, and locker assignments will be given after the schedules are completed.

Increased Enrollment

"Since the Junior high school has been in operation, the registration for this year is the largest we have had," Mr. Edick said, "and due to this increase, Leon Schram of the Junior high staff, has been added, for this year, to the Senior high faculty, to help take care of the larger student body."

It is essential for students to get their schedules now, so that they will be able to get a wider variety of classes.

In the initial registration for this term, there are 86 more students enrolled than for the 1939-40 school year, according to Mr. Erick.

The comparison is as follows:

Grade	1939	1940
Tenth	243	296
Eleventh	258	251
Twelfth	206	246
Totals	707	793

ORDER VACATES BREWERY SALE

Kader Failed to Meet Contract, Referee Says; Kader Appeals

An order for vacating of the original sale of the Delta Brewery to Jack Kader of Milwaukee and ordering a resale has been appealed by Mr. Kader to the United States district court, according to copies of the documents received by Escanaba parties of interest yesterday.

The referee's order was entered last Friday at Marquette following a hearing here on August 15 on a petition of the trustee, William J. Schmit of Escanaba asking the resale, after alleged failure of Mr. Kader to carry out the contract. Mr. Kader's appeal was filed Wednesday.

Kader made a payment of $4,000 on the property, according to the referee's latest order, and the order details that this sum shall be held to indemnify both the trustee and the referee for any "damages" or expenses incurred in handling the transaction.

The fact that only $4,000 was paid on the purchase price of $26,800 is the chief reason cited for vacating the original sale, as of last April 11. The Kader appeal for a review declares that the referee erred in failing to dismiss the trustee's resale petition, for want of jurisdiction, in ordering the $4,000 to be held and that the whole order is in error.

The order for resale directs that the trustee shall advertise again for bids for sale of the property either in whole or by parcels.

It means, lawyers said, that the brewery sale is just where it was before the original auction.

Absent Ballots Here; Clerk Urges Action

Absent voters ballots were received yesterday at the city clerk's office and Clerk Carl E. Anderson urged that absentee votes be filed as soon as possible and at the office, if possible.

Any voter who knows he will be absent on election day, September 10, may vote in advance at the city hall, up until two days before the election and others may vote by mail.

Thirty three requests had been received yesterday for ballots to be mailed out of town. Probably 150 to 200 absent ballots will be cast in the city, it was estimated.

The law describes an absent voter as follows: "Absent voter" shall be construed to mean any qualified and registered elector, who, on account of physical disability, is unable without another's assistance to attend the polls, or any qualified and registered elector, except persons confined in a prison or jail who is absent or expects to be absent from the township or city in which he or she resides during the entire period the polls are open on the day of any election or primary election."

August Meyers, Crystal Falls, vs. Iron county and the U. S. F. & G.

Della Jane Lucas, Germfask, vs. Alger Lumber company and the Employers Mutual.

Hearings on petitions to stop compensation were:

Wellington L. Pelletier, Hardwood, vs. Ford Motor company.

Donald McCole, Sagola, vs. Northern Sawmill company and the Employers Mutual.

William F. Kuha, Laurium, vs. Calumet and Hecla Consolidated Copper company.

Attorneys attending the session were R. W. Nebel, Munising; Dennis McGinn, Escanaba; James R. Fitzharris, Manistique; Ray Derham, Iron Mountain; E. H. Reynolds, Munising; H. J. Rushton, Escanaba; Glenn W. Jackson and James A. Markle, Gladstone; O. W. Johnson, Iron Mountain; A. E. Petermann, Calumet; Fred F. Murphy, Iron River, and Ivan Wright, Ironwood.

WILL BUY IRON LUNG

Marquette—The Newberry Lions club yesterday became the first upper peninsula civic organization to lend its support for wiping out the unpaid balance on the "iron lung" purchased recently by the Marquette county committee of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis and now in use at the Northern Michigan Children's clinic.

In mailing the club's check for $15 to the Daily Mining Journal, S. M. Ennis, club president asserted that "we can't think of any place where our money would do more good than to help pay for the iron lung, so we want to be one of the first to start the ball rolling."

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, Aug. 29 (AP)—Efforts to extend Wednesday's stock market upswing ran into opposition today and about the best the list could do was to maintain its balance.

Transfers amounted to 264,760 shares, compared with 381,570 in the preceding session.

Steels, motors, coppers and oil slipped fractionally, while modest improvement was registered for aircrafts and a few rails, utilities, mail orders and specialties.

The main factor in the day's stalemate, brokers said, was the inclination of some traders to lighten accounts in preparation for the lengthy Labor Day recess.

Intensifying of the British-German air duels was said to have caused other customers to step lightly pending more definite indications of the outcome. Part of the hesitancy was attributed to doubts concerning action of congress on the tax and selective service measures.

At the same time general business news helped impede selling. Aiding sentiment was a jump to a new year's peak in last week's railway freight loadings, expanding merchandising sales and the belief defense spending would soon bring a spurt in heavy industry.

United Aircraft pushed up 1 1-8 points on announcement the company had received an army-navy order for $160,000,000 worth of plane engines. Boeing, Glenn Martin and Sperry improved.

Johns-Manville advanced 2. Lesser gains were posted for Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, North American, Bullard, Eastman Kodak and U. S. Gypsum.

Dow Chemical dropped 5 and small declines were suffered by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Anaconda, Kennecott, Standard Oil of N. J., General Electric, Westinghouse, International Paper preferred and J. C. Penney.

In a spotty curb Bell Aircraft, Brewster Aero, Aviation & Transportation and United Wall Paper were a shade better. A bit lower were Gulf Oil, Lake Shore, Bath Iron Works and Cities Service.

DIES FROM POLIO

Iron Mountain—Another death from poliomyelitis, increasing to four the toll for Iron Mountain since the outbreak developed, occurred at 6:30 last night when Clifford Roy Carlson, age 29, of 704 West Brown street, died in St. Vincent's hospital at Green Bay, after an illness of five days.

Carlson was taken to Green Bay Monday morning and placed in a respirator at the hospital. He had been ill two or three days, and when his condition became critical it was learned that the respirators at Marquette and the General hospital here — the only two in upper Michigan — were both in use.

Shortly after arriving at the hospital his condition improved, and continued favorable until yesterday afternoon, according to reports, when he suffered a relapse.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Aug. 29 (AP)—While an increased pre-harvest movement of corn depressed futures contracts on which grain can be delivered next month, new crop corn options today were strengthened by delayed maturity in many sections of the belt due to cool weather and too much rain.

Chicago cash grain dealers, quoting No. 1 yellow corn as high as 66½ cents, or almost a dime over the loan rate and more than 5 cents over September contracts, were able to attract sale of almost 300,000 bushels booked to arrive soon from the country. Receipts were 347 cars, which, with the liberal bookings, represented the most pronounced loosening up of country supplies in some time. Bookings and receipts recently have been running the highest in a year.

Corn closed 3-8 lower to ½ higher compared with yesterday's finish.

Wheat fluctuated within a range of less than a cent, lifting above and dipping below previous closing levels with the flow of mill buying, profit taking and spreading, and closing unchanged to ¼ lower. Oats closed unchanged; soy beans 1¼ lower; rye 3-4 to 7-8 down and lard 5 to 7 lower.

New York, Aug. 29 (AP)—Rails drew the attention of bond traders today, registering irregular gains which lent stability to the corporate and foreign lists.

At the same time U. S. governments registered gains running as high as 12-32 point, despite the absence of more than tentative operations.

Observers believed the fillip to rails was given by estimates in Wall Street indicating a marked increase in earnings available for Chesapeake & Ohio Railway stock this year. That stock is important in the collateral backing Alleghany Corp. bonds.

As a result Alleghany convertible 5s gained 1½ at 90; Alleghany 5s of '49 rose ¼ at 74¼, and Alleghany stamped 5s of '50 lifted 1¼ at 44¾.

Other issues with moderate rises included Great Northern 4½s at 87¾; Erie 5s of '75 at 12¾; Remington Rand 4s of '56 with warrant at 99½; Pacific Gas 3¾s at 111½; Nickel Plate 5½s at 66, and N. Y. Central 5s at 58.

Transactions totalled $3,318,100, face value, compared with $3,262,000 yesterday.

SERIAL STORY

LOVE ON THE LINE

BY PAUL FRIGGENS

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

CARRIE LANE—an eastern girl who came into the frontier west to find a home.

MARK DEUEL—a homesteader who keeps his business to himself.

ASHTON OAKS—a land agent, with town lots to sell.

* * *

Yesterday: Carrie begs Mark not to fight Oaks. But back in town, the agent looks up Mark, tries to start a fight. Deuel ignores him. There is a shot.

CHAPTER IV

Carrie was standing there, white-faced, tense, clinging to Mrs. Taylor's arm, when Mark elbowed his way through the excited crowd and into the darkening street. Mark stopped, lifted his hat to her and to Mrs. Taylor, greeted Ed Taylor.

"Anything serious?" Taylor asked. "We just got in town when we heard the rumpus."

"Nothing much," Mark answered, and knew instantly that his explanation didn't satisfy Carrie Lane.

"Mr. Deuel," she broke in, "it was trouble with Mr. Oaks, wasn't it?" For a moment Mark thought he read accusation in her eyes.

"Miss Lane, I'm sorry," he said, "but it was."

Mark found it difficult to answer her while she looked so pale, frightened, and the homesteaders pressed around them, hanging on every word. Mark reddened, searched for an excuse to change the subject.

Ed Taylor suggested they walk back to the hotel and Mark readily agreed. On the way Mark told them what had happened.

* * *

It was Newt Gale who had seen trouble coming—or thought he had, Mark explained. Newt was with Mark when Ashton Oaks started his quarrel. He had heard Mark tell the agent he was drunk and walk away. And Newt had seen Oaks reach for his inside coat pocket as Mark neared the door.

"That was too much for Newt, I guess," Mark laughed. "He just couldn't wait. He grabbed Oaks' arm, and, sure enough, the agent did have a gun. It went off. The bullet shattered the glass over the bar and first thing Newt knew, everybody was piled up on the floor."

Carrie was breathless. "Didn't he mean to shoot you?"

"No, don't think he did." Mark was still trying to pass off the matter lightly. "He was just drunk and pretty sore and Newt was over-cautious. I don't think Oaks ever intended to have it turn out the way it did." He laughed again. "You ought to see what he looked like after dusting off that floor."

Ed Taylor laughed, too, and Mrs. Taylor put in with the observation that people shouldn't reach for guns they didn't intend to shoot. But Mark, looking suddenly at Carrie, noticed she wasn't laughing. Her fingers clenched and unclenched on her handkerchief and Mark was sure she was ready to cry.

Afterward, at the hotel, he learned how near to crying she really was—this courageous little girl who had dared come to Sioux Springs to settle on a prairie homestead along with the stoutest of them.

It was late when the Taylors left Mark and Carrie alone. They were getting up early, Taylor explained, to get a good start with supplies to the claim on Rock Creek. Mark was glad Carrie did not go upstairs with them.

A dim kerosene lamp shed feeble rays through the window of Sioux Springs House. Carrie and Mark stood outside in the shadows. It was oppressively hot. The street was practically deserted. Mark leaned a bit awkwardly against the building, fumbling with his hat, now and then stopping to wipe his forehead and trying to appear cool and unconcerned. But he wasn't.

"Mark—" Carrie began, but caught herself quickly and went on, "Mr. Deuel, is it always like this out here?"

"Why, yes," Mark searched for an answer, then added: "That is, you mean the hot summers and all?"

"I mean," Carrie said, "is everything always so—so rough and—well—ruthless? Tonight, I mean—you might have been killed!"

Mark grinned, a quiet, disarming grin, but it was lost on Carrie. "Oh, I don't think it was as serious as all that, Miss Lane. You stay around this country long enough and you'll see all kinds of fellows like Oaks. Can't all be like Taylor and Newt Gale and Ma Parmley, you know."

"Or Mark Deuel," she smiled, then went on, sober again. "I know, I know. Everything is so big and so—so lonesome out here and there are so many new people. You're so far away from anyone you know, and you can't be sure of the people you meet."

"Now just how am I to take that?" Mark feigned offense, tried to make a joke of Carrie's words. But his effort failed utterly.

"Mark," Carrie said, and suddenly her lip quivered, "Mark, I'm afraid out here, terribly afraid."

It was her first admission of the thing Mark knew the moment he had seen her that day at Ma Parmley's. And she had called him Mark! Suddenly, he wanted to take her in his arms, to kiss the tears out of her wide, blue eyes, to press his lips on hers. But he couldn't. Something inside Mark Deuel told him that he would not have kissed Carrie Lane then had she asked him.

Instead, he made a rather clumsy job of comforting this girl who suddenly seemed to have changed the whole outlook of his life.

"Carrie," he started to reply, but choked on the name and began all over aagin. "Miss Lane—this thing's going to work out all right now. There's a lot of women come out here and stick it out and make good and like it. Now take Ma Parmley, for instance. Wasn't even a town here when she came!"

"Oh, she told me all about that," Carrie smiled and seemed almost to have unburdened herself. "Said she 'et' on the grass, slept in the wagon—when the wagon wasn't being used."

They laughed and Mark noted Carrie's chin tilted at a bit more determined angle again.

"I guess—I guess that affair at the saloon frightened me, that's all," Carrie went on. "That, and the trip to the claim today. It was so quiet, so far out and lonesome there today. The closest neighbor's a mile away. I almost wanted to give it up when I first saw it."

"Well, you aren't going to give it up now," Mark declared. "Not if the Taylors and Ma Parmley and the rest of us have anything to say about it."

He wanted to say he couldn't give up Carrie now, not if Mark Deuel had anything to say about it, but somehow the words stuck in his throat. A moment ago he had wanted to take her in his arms. But some fear held him back. Never had Mark experienced anything like this.

"I guess it's getting pretty late, isn't it?" Carrie looked through the window into the dingy hotel lobby, now almost empty. "If I'm going out with the Taylors in the morning I'd better get some sleep, too." Mark, grinning, agreed, and they said good night. He watched her disappear into the hotel and then swung off down the street.

* * *

Newt Gale hailed him as he passed the saloon where he'd found Carrie, white-faced, waiting outside, two hours earlier.

"Mark," Newt said, "I don't know as this amounts to anything. But this agent, Oaks, is inside again and pretty mean. He's bragging he's going to get you next time. Think I'd play safe, Mark. Just don't get careless with him, that's all. I can't be around every time he reaches for that coat pocket, Mark."

Newt laughed at his own joke and said good night, but Mark Deuel knew Newt Gale wasn't joking.

U. P. Winter Sports Conference Sept. 6

Marquette, Mich.—Geo. E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, stated this week that the date for the usual all-peninsula winter sports conference had been set for Friday, September 6.

"This time is tentative and subject to change," said Mr. Bishop. "A firm date and the place of meeting will be announced soon. Last year's fall conference at Ishpeming was a real success, and it paved the way for a good advance in the 1940 winter season. There is every reason to believe that the coming winter's events will mark a new high in interest."

Preliminary plans for co-ordinating winter events in the peninsula will be discussed, in order to avoid any conflicting dates. There will be a good speaking program and representatives from northern Wisconsin and Minnesota may be present.

Passport Trouble Delays Return of Gladstone Woman

Passport legislation which changed the number of years a passport could be legally used from four to three years is responsible for keeping Mrs. William Ogren of this city an unwilling visitor in Canada.

Mrs. Ogren with her husband, who is custodian of the postoffice here and two children recently made a motor trip into Canada to visit old friends near the Canadian Soo. The Ogrens were married in Canada in 1937.

Upon trying to reenter the United States the Ogrens made the unpleasant discovery that Mrs. Ogren's passport had expired and she could not legally come into the country without securing a new one.

The assistance of the American consul at the Soo was sought and every effort was made by Ogren to enable his wife to return with him. He discovered, however, that Mrs. Ogren's passport would have to be sent to Montreal necessitating a delay of about a week.

The consul was finally able to assure Ogren that arrangements to bring his wife back here would be completed by September 7.

The Ogrens are not planning any further trips into Canada in the near future.

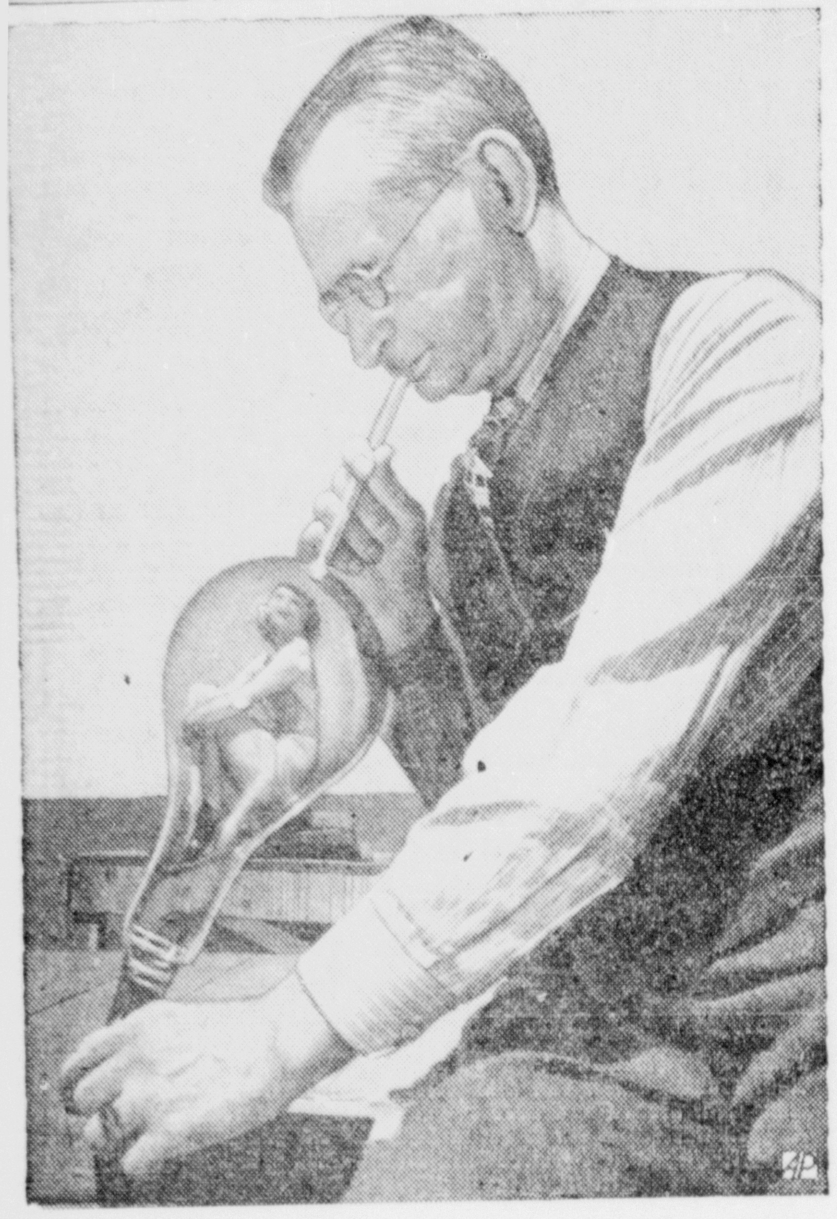
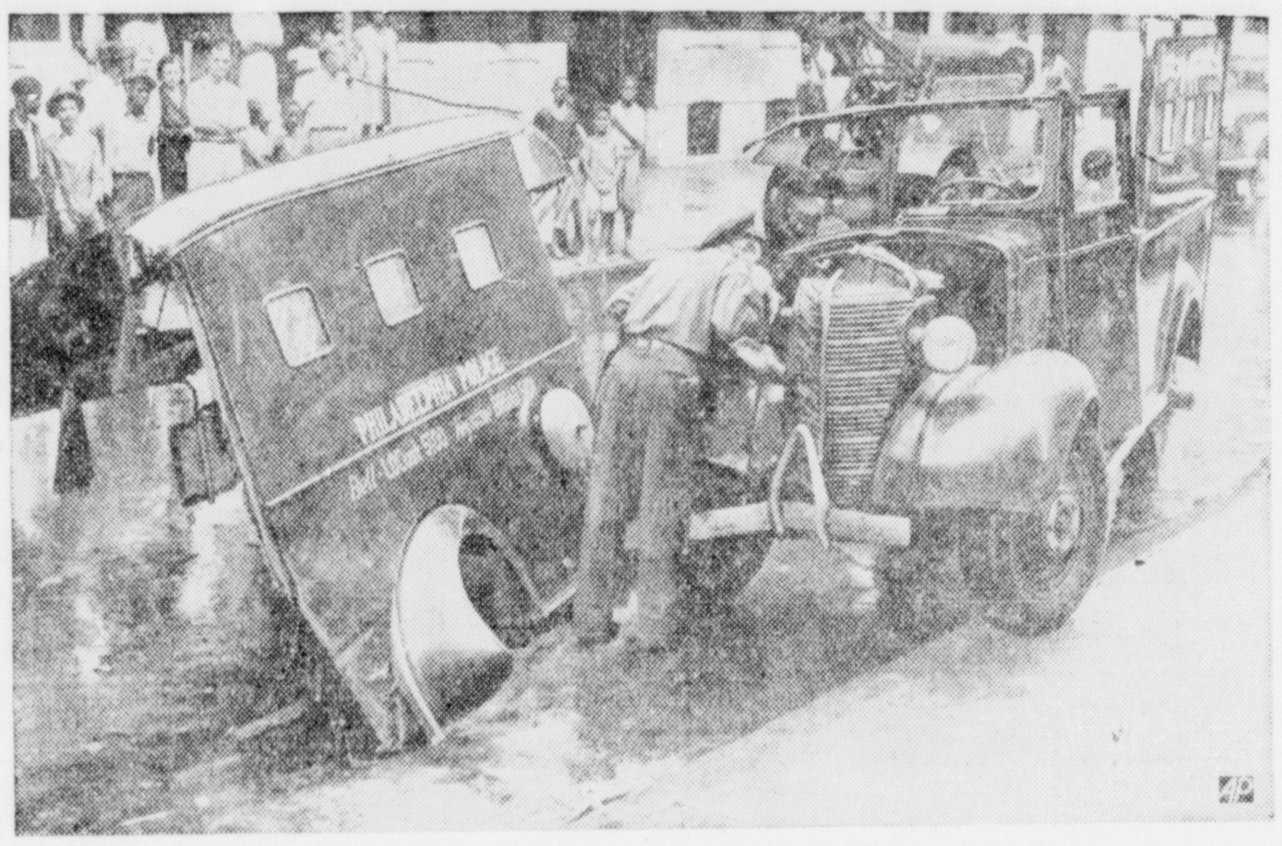
ASSOCIATED PRESS PICTURE NEWS

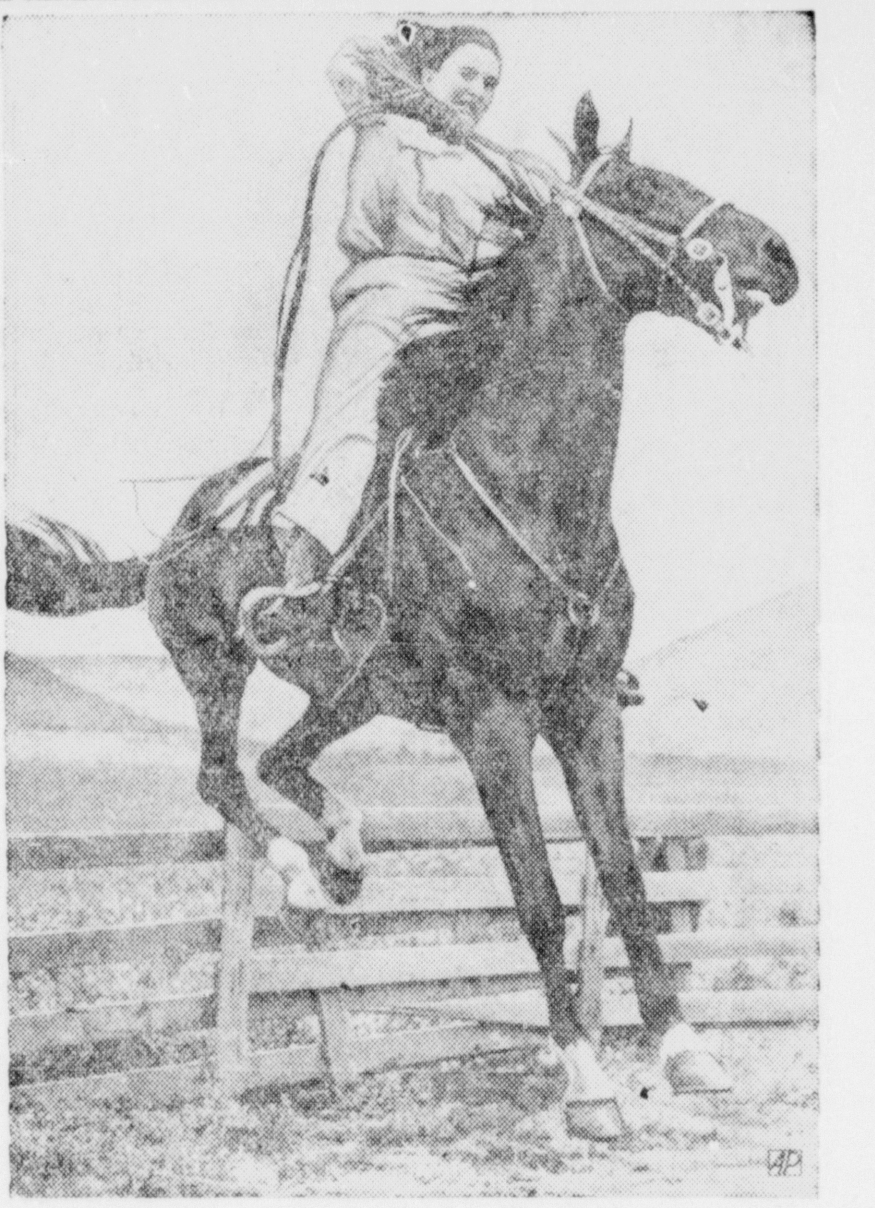


IT'S HIS SECRET—How foxy C. S. Ault of San Francisco, a glass blower by profession, managed to get Hazel, a show girl, into that glass he's blowing might seem like magic—save for the presence of the photographer, who stood at an angle to catch the glass and the girl seated on pier beyond. Ault, who's been blowing glass 50 years, is at Golden Gate Exposition.



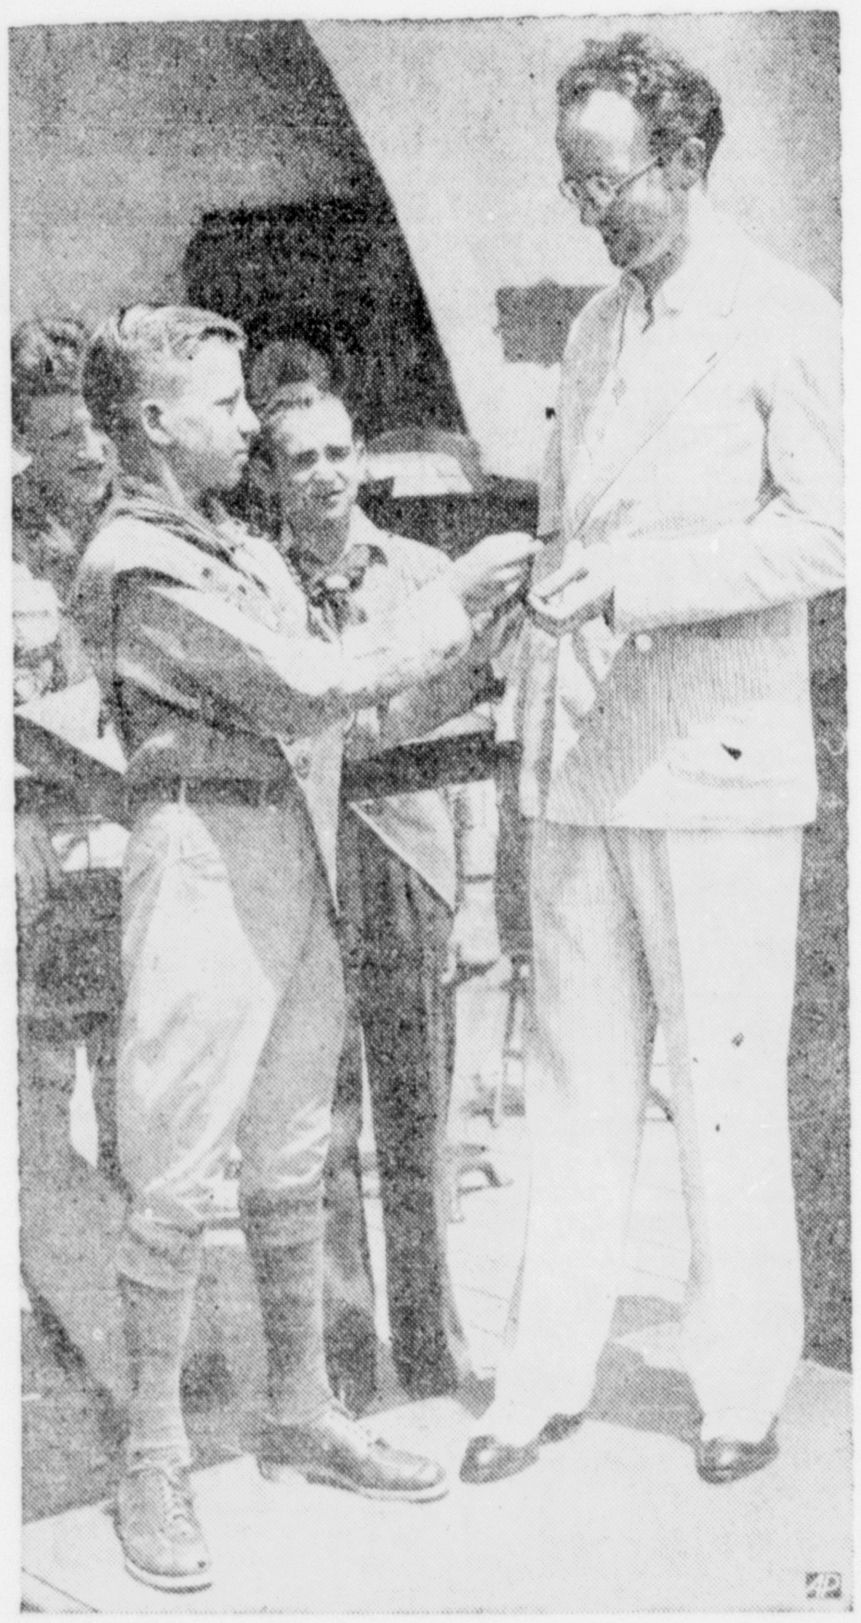
TROLLEY WINS OVER POLICE VAN—Ripped apart in a collision with a trolley car in Philadelphia, this police patrol wagon stands, in pieces, on pavement. Note how impact tore body. Three patrolmen were hurt and passengers in derailed trolley were shaken.

FORECAST—Old Glory waves, too, over as neat a morsel as Marcy Morgan of Washington, D. C., who'll be queen of the September president's cup regatta in capital.

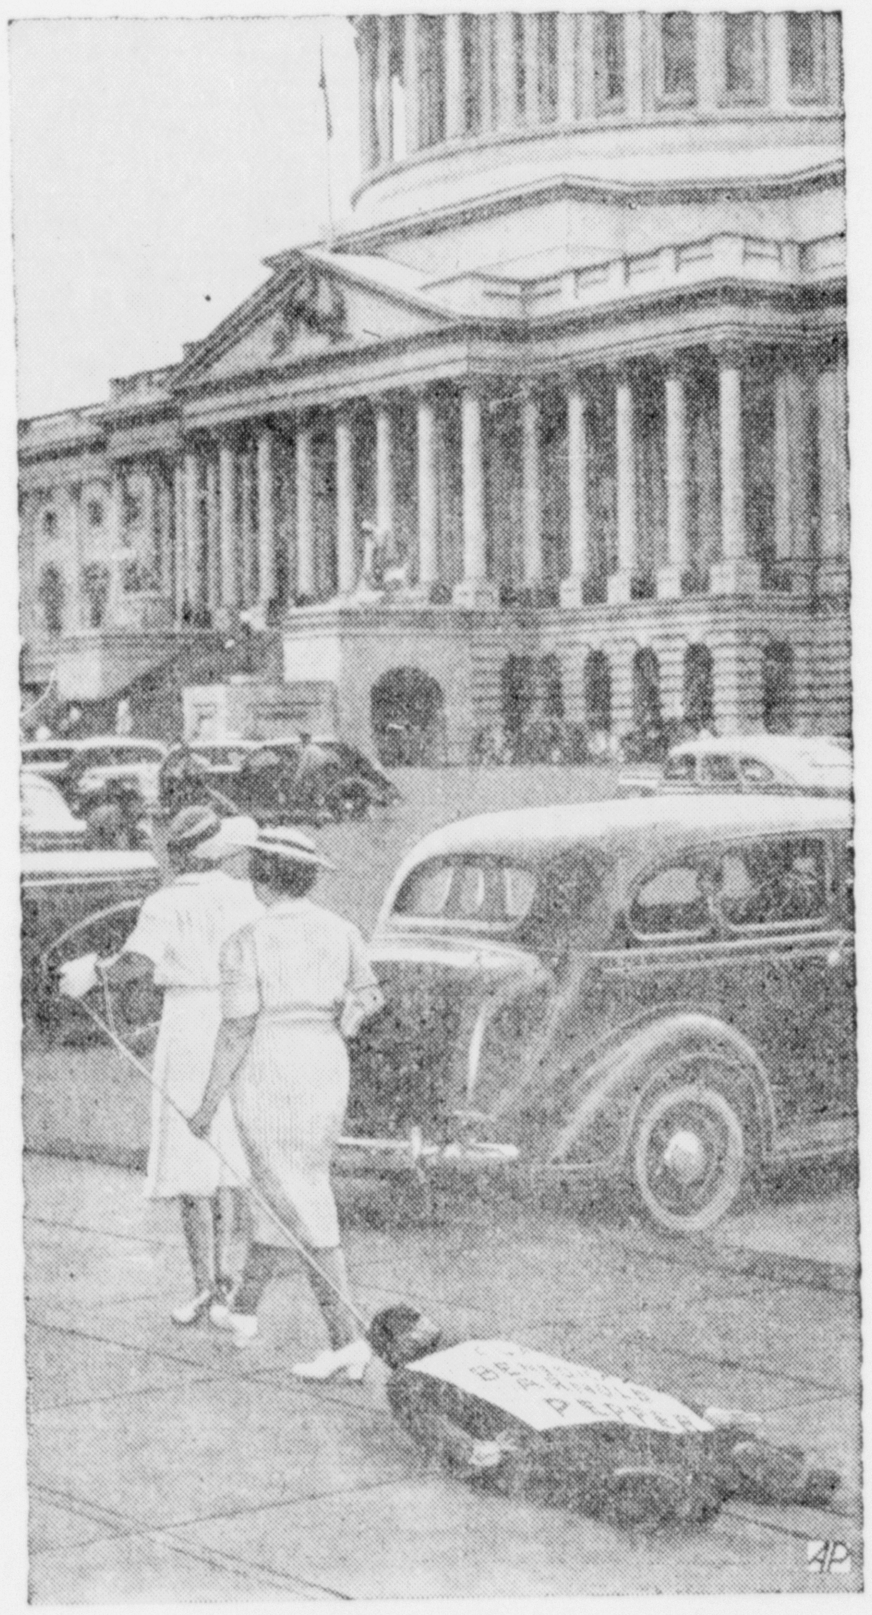


OVER THE HARD WAY—Just to dispel any doubts about her riding ability, Evelyn Mellergaard, 19, of the Ellensburg, Wash., rodeo took her favorite mount over this fence. She's to be queen of the Ellensburg rodeo and roundup.

FANCY THIS—Yep, those are fringed pants worn by dashing Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, N. Y. socialite, seen in a definitely Peter Pan-ish outfit at swanky Newport, R. I.



ONE SCOUT TO ANOTHER—That one-time Eagle Badge Boy Scout who is now a conductor of Wagner, Edwin McArthur (right), received a special medal from Vernon Washburn during the former's concert series in Chicago. The medal was in appreciation of McArthur's efforts to "aid and encourage young musicians." McArthur was a scout in his native Denver.



SEASONED WITH PEPPER—Through Washington streets this effigy of Sen. Claude Pepper, Florida Democrat supporting compulsory military training, was dragged by women who said they represented the Congress of Mothers of U. S. A., opposing a draft. They managed to hang the effigy briefly from a capitol tree. Dummy was marked "Claude Benedict Arnold Pepper."

BIG JOB—What a task lies ahead of Earl G. Harrison, U. S. director of alien registration. Between mid August and late December 3,500,000 aliens in U. S. are to be listed.

TWO CROWNED HEADS—So vast is their kingdom that the leaves almost cover them—little Adeline Blount and Miller Thomas, who were co-rulers of the tobacco festival at Wilson, N. C. Youngsters are in a tobacco field. Theirs was a two-day reign as this community, like others in the southland, paid tribute to the crop which brings in a livelihood.

'CHOCOLATE, SOLDIER?'—There's nothing like war maneuvers to whet a man's appetite for a soda. This is Pvt. Steve Zinchiak at Madrid, N. Y., reviving self thanks to Leo Condlin (right). He's an infantryman from Meadville, Pa.

FARM MAN—Successor to Henry A. Wallace in the cabinet, as secretary of agriculture, is Claude R. Wickard (above), 47, Indiana-born farm leader. He has been active in the affairs of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

HEADWORK—Jackie Hayes, Chicago White Sox second baseman, takes no chances of being "beaned." He wears a helmet. He'll undergo cataract operation at end of season.

GOLD STAR FROM CONNIE—"How to Catch in the Big League" might be the title of this action shot of Frank Hayes, catcher with the Philadelphia Athletics. He's regarded by Connie Mack and other baseball experts as almost the best catcher in either major league, and was busy in a White Sox-A's game at the time. His home is in Freehold, N. J.

RATIO OF SEVEN TO ONE—To keep one plane aloft at Randolph Field, Texas, seven highly trained mechanics work on ground jobs—as these fellows are. They're running ignition wiring through metal housings, for otherwise interference would render useless the sensitive radio receiver. More than 300 planes are in daily use at this U. S. army air base.

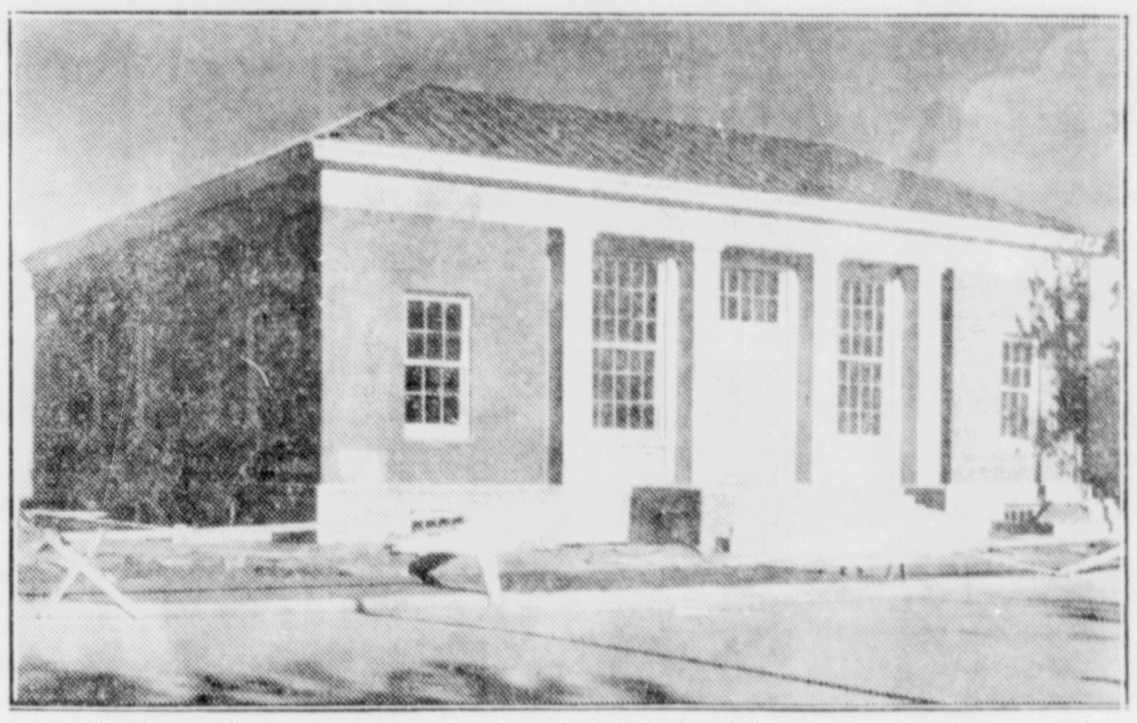
Postoffice To Be Dedicated Today



Manistique's new postoffice, located at the intersection of Oak and Cedar streets, will be formally dedicated this afternoon at a public program. The building is shown above in a picture taken a month ago, before the construction was completed.

(Daily Press Photo)

New Postoffice Goes Into Service Sunday

The lobby of the new postoffice will be open to patrons to receive their incoming mail Sunday morning at nine o'clock, Postmaster Frank Gierke announced yesterday. The last day of service at the old postoffice will be Saturday.

Lock boxes at the new postoffice are of the key type and keys to the lock boxes will be distributed to boxholders at the new postoffice from 2 to 6 o'clock Saturday, Aug. 31.

Monday, Sept. 2, is Labor Day, a legal holiday, and the usual holiday schedule will be in effect at the postoffice on that day. There will be no mail delivery or window service, but the postoffice lobby will be open until one o'clock for the convenience of boxholders.

The old postoffice will be closed from three to five o'clock today during the dedication of the new federal building.

George McKenzie and son, Louis, and a brother-in-law, Mert Shrimpton, all of Buffalo, N. Y., have returned to their homes following a two weeks' visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gregor MacGregor, Chippewa avenue. Mrs. MacGregor is a sister of Mr. McKenzie.

Parents Asked To Avoid Crowds With Children

Dr. E. J. Brenner, director of the Schoolcraft - Alger health unit, yesterday issued a warning to Manistique parents to keep their children away from public gatherings, picnics, etc., because of the infantile paralysis situation now prevalent in this and other counties of the upper peninsula.

Dr. Brenner announced yesterday that one new case has been reported in Manistique and two in Alger county. To date there have been three cases in Schoolcraft county, with one death.

The new case reported yesterday was of a mild nature, the health director said.

NEW BUILDING IS ELABORATE

Postoffice Cost $60,000 Here; Has Many Fine Features

Manistique's new postoffice, which will be formally dedicated today, is a one story brick building with basement, having a concrete foundation and a copper roof which contractors estimate will last from two to three centuries.

The first floor includes the lobby, which is 35 feet by 14 feet, the workmen's room and the postmaster's office. Above the wainscoting, the lobby is finished in white and the postmaster's office 14 feet square, has a white oak floor and walnut finish.

There are five rooms in the basement, three of which are available for office space for federal agencies, the furnace room and a room for the storing of records. In addition there are two lavatories and a large coal bin. The building is steam heated.

The individual storage boxes for mail are located at one end of the lobby. There are 317 boxes, including 225 small size boxes, 64 medium size boxes, four large boxes and 24 drawers. All of the boxes are of the key type, instead of the combination models used in the present postoffice building.

Public service will be given at four windows, one for parcel post, one for the money order and bond division, a third for stamps and the fourth for general delivery. The money order clerk is separated from the remainder of the workroom by a steel cage.

The structure features a terrazo floor, St. Genevieve marble wainscoting, and Tennessee red marble base. The building cost is approximately $60,000.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

SCORE 3 TO 1, AND CUBS LOSE

Chicago Held to Five Hits As Bees Take Second Game In a Row

Chicago, Aug. 29, (AP)—Held to five hits by Bill Posedel, the Chicago Cubs lost their second game in a row to the Boston Bees today. The score was 3 to 1.

Posedel retired the first 11 Cubs to face him before Chicago scored in the fourth on singles by Zeke Bonura and Hank Leiber and a double by Jim Gleeson.

The Bees scored in the first on a wild pitch by Jake Mooty, collected another run in the fifth on two hits and clinched the game with another score in the ninth. Mooty allowed nine hits.

LEAD EXTENDED BY CINCY REDS

Cincinnati, Aug. 29, (AP)—Neither rain nor the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers could stop the Cincinnati Reds today as they hammered out a 9 to 3 triumph that gave them an apparently unshakable 8½ game grip on the National league lead.

Already behind their schedule and forced to play a game tomorrow on what was to have been an open date, the two teams waited an hour before starting time today for a break in a downpour in order to get their game going. Rain fell persistently through the last 4½ innings but by that time the champions had the contest under control and the drizzle made little difference.

Paul Derringer, in acquiring his 17th victory, kept seven hits scattered, although one of them was a home run by Ducky Medwick in the first inning.

On the other hand the Reds battered five Brooklyn pitchers for a dozen hits, including two home runs.

DOUBLE VICTORY GOES TO YANKS

New Pork, Aug. 29, (AP)—The courageous New York Yankees battled like champions today to sweep a doubleheader from the St. Louis Browns 10 to 3 and 6 to 5 and narrow the gap separating them from first place to 4½ games, 2½ out of second.

The first game was a contest only until the fifth inning, when the Yankees scored all their ten runs in a startling uprising that saw the bases filled nine times as 16 men went to bat. Lefty Marius Russo coasted to his 11th victory by scattering 11 hits, one fewer than the Yanks collected off four hurlers.

The nightcap went 13 innings before a perfect squeeze bunt by Frank Corsetti with the bases loaded and two out brought home the winning run.

Elden Auker went all the way for St. Louis and was winning 4 to 1 with two out in the ninth. Then Joe DiMaggio, riding the bench because of a charley horse, delivered a pinch homer with two on to tie the score. It was his 28th of the season.

George McQuinn opened the 11th with a home run, but the Yanks again knotted the count on Charley Keller's double and Buddy Rosar's single. Relief pitcher John Murphy got credit for the win.

SENATORS DROP TWO TO TIGERS

Lead of Indians Is Cut to Two Games By 3-2 and 6-0 Wins

Washington, Aug. 29 (AP)—The second place Detroit Tigers today defeated the Washington Senators 3 to 2 and 6 to 0 to cut down the lead of the American league pacesetting Cleveland Indians to two games.

Cleveland was rained out in Philadelphia. The second contest here between the Bengals and Nats was called at the end of the sixth inning because of darkness.

In the Tiger opener big Lynwood Rowe scored his twelfth pitching victory of the season with a superb performance.

Louie (Buck) Newsom, now fully recovered from a broken thumb, won his seventeenth victory of the campaign in the nightcap by limiting the Senators to four hits.

Greenberg Leads Attack

Hank Greenberg, big Tiger leftfielder, wasn't a handicap to his club in either contest. In the opener he belted his 25th homer of the year and also got a double and two singles. His 26th homer in the first inning of the nightcap provided Newsom with a lead.

Rowe, pitching in typical style, not only did some fine hurling but drove in the winning run of his twelfth victory of the season.

In the eighth inning he broke a 2-2 deadlock by doubling off the right field wall after Dick Bartell had hit for two sacks.

Detroit and Washington had nine hits each, all of the Senators' blows being singles. The Tigers left 11 men stranded on the base paths.

Siege gun of the Detroit attack was Greenberg, who had four straight hits.

The Tigers took a one run lead in the second when Bartell walked and scored on Pete Fox's three-bagger to center.

In the third Washington tied the score when Buddy Lewis singled after two men were out, stole second and came in on Ed Welaj's single.

The Senators went in front 2 to 1 in the fourth as a result of Rudy York losing a footrace to the ancient Buddy Myer. The Washington second sacker hit a grounder to Rudy, who tried to beat him to the sack instead of throwing to Rowe. Myer stole second and came in when Ken Chase singled after Jake Early had received an intentional walk.

St. Louis Next

Greenberg tied the score with his homer in the fifth.

Rowe allowed only two hits in the last five innings, one of which was a bunt single.

Bartell's double followed by Rowe's game-winning hit broke up the ball game in the eighth. Rowe faced only six batters in the last two innings and struck out three of them.

The Tigers had to beat the two Washington aces—Southpaw Ken Chase and Sid Hudson, rookie right-hander, who has been a sensation.

In the nightcap Pete Fox, first batter to face Hudson, sent a fly to short left and Jimmy Pofahl muffed the ball for a two-base error. Barney McCosky flied out but Charley Gehringer, who played only in the second engagement, drove a single to right that scored Fox. Greenberg then homered.

In the second the Tigers counted on singles by Billy Sullivan and Dick Bartell, an error by Lewis, and a double play grounder off the bat of Newsom.

Their last two runs came in the sixth on a walk to Frank Higgins, Sullivan's double, a walk to Bartell and two long fly balls.

The Tigers left tonight on the 22-hour train trip to St. Louis, where they open a two-game stand against the Browns Saturday.

SPILLING the DOPE

BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

JACK DEMPSEY comes to town ... appearance of the colorful ex-champion as a referee at the U. P. state fair should do much toward pepping up the fistic sport in this part of the peninsula ... with the Golden Gloves tournament giving boxing a good push, appearance of Dempsey certainly shouldn't hurt the sport ... while it is only a personal opinion, we are inclined to believe that the Fair board may take a financial rap on the show because Dempsey isn't coming here for the scenery ... Carl Kant, St. Joe coach, stopped us yesterday and said: "Is that story about the cancellation of our game with Iron Mountain true? ... I haven't been notified yet" ... all we know is what we read in the papers ... and we read that.

> A fellow who can raise the devil and get away with it is a spirit medium.

CUBS RECALL DEAN ... we're glad to hear it ... since going to Tulsa, Dean has shown signs of coming back and we hope he makes the grade in Chicago ... the trip to Tulsa apparently has cured him of his mental quirks and he's ready to get down to business ... see where Billy Rogell was released by the Cubs ... bet the Tigers wish they had the Fire Chief around on their roster right now ... they could use some of his pepper in spite of the fact that he hasn't been hitting too well ... Judge Landis upheld a fine of $500 against the Michigan league for firing an umpire and of the suspension for one year of old Burleigh Grimes, manager of the Grand Rapids team, for spitting in the face of Umpire Robert Williams ... apparently, it isn't the sporting thing to do to spat at the ump.

EDDIE MORCOMBE, former Iron River coach, has been named coach at Niagara high school, succeeding Frederic Mates, who has resigned to become an aviation instructor ... Joe Muleski, former Stambaugh star, is again with the Chicago Cardinals ... he plays an end position under the name of Joel Mason ... two upper peninsula athletes, Reuben Kelto of Bessemer and Ralph Anderson of St. Ignace, are on the Michigan grid squad this year ... Paul Freeman of Bessemer, two year member of the All U. P. high school team, will enroll at the University of Virginia, where All American Guard Ralph Heikkinen is line coach ... Reino Romo, also of Bessemer, will enroll at Michigan while Big Ray Ebli of Ironwood has been asked to report for varsity practice at Notre Dame on Sept. 1 ... GENE SARAZEN BEATS PICARD

Old Gaffer of Golf In Quarter Finals of PGA Tourney

BY GAYLE TALBOT

Hershey, Pa., Aug. 29. (AP)—That old gaffer Gene Sarazen, who is enjoying an astonishing season of success in what should, by rights, be the twilight of his career, fought his way to the quarter finals of the Professional Golfers association championship today with a victory over Henry Picard, the defending champion, on the 36th green.

And that other stripling Walter Hagen (47), was out of it only because he got to day dreaming late in the afternoon and accidentally touched the ball of his opponent, Harold (Jug) McSpaden and automatically lost a crucial hole. The five-time former champion lost out, finally, on the 36th hole where he stroked a putt with all his unbounded confidence and watched it lick the cup—and stay out.

The other six survivers of two rounds of medal play and three match conflicts were Sam Snead, who clashes with Sarazen tomorrow; Paul Runyan, twice former PGA winner, who engages McSpaden; Byron Nelson, former open champion and PGA finalist last year, who meets Eddie Kirk, an unknown from Farmington, Mich., and Ben Hogan and Ralph Guldahl, a pair of top notchers from Texas who need no introduction.

Nelson pulled perhaps the day's second best upset, behind that of Sarazen, when he knocked the props from under Dick Metz of Chicago. Metz had won two medal rounds and was a dozen strokes under par for the week when he encountered the 1939 champion. Nelson, after being one down at the end of the morning round, clung to Metz until Dick finally cracked in the cold, drizzly afternoon, and lost 2 and 1.

Sarazen though, won his match. The little guy who captured his first of three PGA crowns 18 years ago this summer, shot a par 73 in the morning to take a one up lead over Picard, and then fairly blazed around in 68 strokes in the afternoon to make his victory stick.

Picard, the home pro who knows every patch of clover on his own water-logged course, shot a 68 in the afternoon too, but it couldn't save him.

Snead shot five under par golf to slaughter Jimmy Hines, 7 and 6. Runyan, the little geezer who can't drive within 40 yards of any opponent, knocked out Ed Dudley of Philadelphia, 4 and 3.

Kirk, the boy from Michigan, was the only real outsider among the surviving eight. But he waded through some nice opposition the last two days. He was the guy who trimmed Jimmy Demaret yesterday, 2 and 1, and he was only two above par for 32 holes when he closed out Art Clark of Uniontown, Pa., 5 and 4 today.

Hogan, the year's biggest money winner, shot a 71 in the morning and was four under par when he finally bashed Al Brosch of Farmingdale, N. Y., 5 and 4. He wound it up typically with four pars in the last five holes.

Guldahl, whom the boys still say isn't a match player, was four shots under par when he wrapped up Jim Foulis of Hinsdale, Ill., 5 and 3. If he loses to Hogan tomorrow, then, all right, he isn't a match player.

Phils Whitewashed By Pirates, 4 to 0

Pittsburgh, Aug. 29 (AP)—Hitting freely and turning in three double plays, the Pittsburgh Pirates whitewashed Philadelphia today 4 to 0 for their eighth straight triumph over the Quakers.

Mace Brown, who has shown a tendency to weaken in the late innings, was yanked by Manager Frankie Frisch in the eighth after Rookie Dan Litwhiler singled and Johnny Rizzo bounced a double off the left field fence. Danny MacFayden halted the potential rally.

Walk In 9th Gives Boston 4-3 Verdict In White Sox Game

Boston, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Red Sox escaped a tumble into the second division today by defeating the Chicago White Sox, 4-3, in the series' finale. Relief pitcher Johnny Rigney gave the Red Sockers the game by forcing in the winning run with two out in the ninth.

After uncorking a three-run rally in the sixth, the Red Sox found themselves in a deadlock when they went to bat in the ninth. They loaded the bases with two singles and a pass before Rigney forced pitcher Don Di Maggio by giving Manager Joe Cronin a base on balls.

SCORING BATTLE THRILLS 84,567

Green Bay Pass Attack Clicks; Kinnick Also Shows His Stuff

BY CHARLES DUNCKLEY

Chicago, Aug. 29 (AP)—In the wildest scoring battle in the history of the series, the Green Bay Packers, champions of the National Professional Football League, defeated the College All-Stars 45 to 28 before a record-breaking crowd of 84,567 spectators in flood-lighted Soldier Field tonight.

The game, ushering in the 1940 football season, gave the Packers an opportunity to make amends for their failure of three years ago and also gave the professionals an edge in the series, which had been deadlocked with two victories apiece and two ties.

Highest of Series

The thrilling contest produced the highest scoring since the series was inaugurated seven years ago, eclipsing the game of 1938 when the All-Stars conquered the Washington Red Skins 28 to 16. It also drew the greatest crowd, exceeding the previous record in 1937 of 84,560.

The Packers, with a superb aerial attack, packed too much punch in the air for the Collegians.

Paced by Cecil Isbell, famed Purdue athlete, who in 1938 led the All-Stars to triumph, the Packers scored six touchdowns with Isbell throwing three long, scoring passes and running for the final touchdown himself.

The lineup:

All-Stars: Fisk, Southern California, le; Cutlich, Northwestern, lt; Logan, Indiana, lg; Turner, Hardin-Simmons, c; Smith, Southern California, (Capt.) rg; Harvey, Notre Dame, rt; Sarkkinen, Ohio State, re; Schindler, Southern California, qb; Kinnick, Iowa, lh; Brock, Purdue, rh; Thesing, Notre Dame, fb.

Packers: Hutson, le; Ray, lt; Letlow, lg; E. Svendsen, c; Goldenberg, rg; Lee, rt; Gantenbein, re; Craig, qb; Isbell, lh; Laws, rh; Hinkle, fb.

Officials: Referee, Bobbie Kahn, Chicago.; umpire, William A. Blake, Loras college; field judge, Sec. Taylor, Wichita; head linesman, Dr. David Reese, Denison.

First period: Green Bay kicked off, Thesing returning 20 yards to the 35. The Packers braced and Kinnick punted to the Green Bay 25. On the second play, Isbell's pass was knocked into the air by several All-Stars, then intercepted by Amby Schindler of Southern California, who had replaced Thesing. Schindler ran to the Packer 17 before being stopped. Kinnick's short pass to Schindler and the latter's center smash made it a first down at the six-yard line. Then Schindler hit right tackle for a touchdown and Kinnick dropkicked for the extra point. Score All-Stars 7; Green Bay 0.

The Packers received the kickoff and Isbell, trying to pass, immediately was hit for a 16-yard loss. Then Isbell faded back and passed 51 yards to Hutson, who took the ball on the All-Stars' 30 and ran unmolested for a touchdown. Ernie Smith replaced Ray for the Packers and place-kicked for the extra point, tying the score at 7-7.

Fumble Paves Way

The All-Stars received and Harold Van Every of Minnesota, fumbled, Letlow recovering for the Packers at the All-Star 26. Then Isbell passed to Carl Mulleneaux, reserve Packer lineman, for a touchdown, Smith again placekicking for the extra point and giving the Packers a 14-7 lead.

A short punt, returned 10 yards by Laws, gave the Packers the ball on the All-Stars' 37 but Isbell, trying to pass, was smeared for a 16-yard loss twice in three plays and Hinkle had to punt. An exchange of punts followed, with Kinnick returning a Green Bay kick 20 yards to the Packer 36. Kinnick hurled a pass 35 yards to Ken Kavanaugh of Louisiana State, who was nailed on the Packer one as the period ended. Score, Packers 14, All-Stars 7.

Second period: With the ball on the Packers' one-yard line, Bob Kellogg of Tulane and Ken Washington of U. C. L. A. failed to dent the Packer forward wall in three tries. Then on fourth down Washington cracked center for a touchdown, with Kellogg placekicking for the extra point to tie the score at 14-14.

A minute later, after the Packers had taken the kickoff and rushed the ball 10 yards to their own 45, Green Bay scored again when Herber shot a 20-yard pass to Andy Uram, who sidestepped several All-Stars and raced untouched for a touchdown. Engebretsen place-kicked the extra point to make the score, Packers 21, All-Stars 14.

Rushing Attack Scores

An exchange of punts late in the period drove the All-Stars back and Kinnick kicked out to the Packers at the All-Star 40, Joe Laws returning five yards to the All-Star 35. On the first play, Isbell faded back and passed 35 yards to Hutson, who caught the ball in the end zone for a touchdown, snagging it away from three would-be blockers. Smith place-kicked for the extra point. The score: Packers, 28; All-Stars, 14.

The All-Stars received. A 16-yard pass, Kinnick to Washington, advanced the ball to the All-Star 43. On the next play, Kinnick ran to his left, then shot a pass to Banks McFadden of Clemson, who took the aerial on the Packer 30 and streaked for a touchdown without a hand being laid on him. Kinnick drop-kicked the extra point, making the Packer lead only 28 to 21. The half ended seconds later.

Third period: The Packers received the opening kickoff, Uram returning the ball 32 yards to the Packer 40. The All-Stars knocked down one pass and then McFadden intercepted one of Herber's tosses near midfield. Three passes by the Collegians failed and they punted, with the Packers returning the punt after two aerials were spoiled by alert All-Star secondary men.

Green Bay put its rushing attack into high gear for the first time late in the period. The Packers took a punt at their own 40 and on three plays Ed Jankowski, reserve Packer back, crashed to the All-Star 23. One play lost five yards, but Herber then faded back and passed 18 yards to Hutson, who raced for a touchdown unmolested. Smith's placement was good, giving Green Bay a lead of 35 to 21.

Field Goal Good

Washington, UCLA negro star, broke away for a 47-yard run to the Packers' 47 on the kickoff, but the Packers stopped two All-Star aerial bids and forced the Collegians to punt to the Green Bay 15 as the period ended.

Fourth period: Soon after the final period opened, Washington and Schindler sparked the All-Stars to another touchdown. Starting on the Green Bay 46 after taking a punt, Washington shot passes to Dick Evans of Iowa and Kavanaugh which carried the Collegians to the Packer 28. Another pass by Wasihngton to Schindler gained 16 yards, with Schindler smashing to the three-yard line on two tries. On the third play Schindler cracked left guard for a touchdown, Kinnick drop-kicking for the extra point. Score: Green Bay 35, All-Stars 28.

Starting on their own 20, the Packers combined passes to Isbell to Hutson and Gantenbein with a running game to drive to the All-Star 29. A fumble put the Packers back to the All-Star 34, but on the first play Paul Engebretsen booted a perfect field goal which made the score Green Bay 38; All-Stars 28.

With less than two minutes to play, Charley Brock intercepted Washington's pass and returned six yards to the All-Star 30. Isbell's pass to Mulleneaux put the Packers on the All-Star four and Isbell then rounded right end for a touchdown. Hutson's placement for the point was good, making the Green Bay 45, All-Stars 28. The game ended after a desperate but futile All-Star aerial bid.

Wild Vander Meer Recalled By Reds

Cincinnati, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds recalled Johnny Vander Meer, their double-no-hit king of two years ago, from the Indianapolis club of the American Association tonight.

Johnny, plagued by wildness all last year, was sent to Indianapolis early this season in hopes of improving his control. He has won six and lost two for the Indians, a Red farm club, and came within shouting distance of another no-hit game.

Jewel Ens, Indianapolis manager, told Manager Bill McKechnie of the Reds that Vandy was ready to come back to the majors and McKechnie ordered him to report Saturday.

Zivic Wins Verdict Over Sammy Angott

Pittsburgh, Aug. 29, (AP)—Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh punched his way to a decision tonight over the LBA lightweight champion, Sammy Angott, of Washington, Pa., and Louisville, Ky., in ten fast rounds before about 20,000 fans at Forbes Field.

Sivio's 143¼ pounds gave him a 6¼ weight advantage.

The decision in the non-title battle was unanimous. Zivic took charge in the first round and neve rwas headed.

Henry Armstrong, the negro champion, who has signed to risk his welterweight title in a bout here next month against the winner in a Dapper Dan charity affair here, was a spectator.

There were no knockdowns but in the eighth Zivic's two-handed attack had his opponent bewildered and the Zivic rooters began yelling for a knockout.

PENNANT HOPES BLASTED AGAIN

Cookie Lavagetto Out With Appendectomy; Dodgers Blue

Cincinnati, Aug. 29, (AP)—Acute appendicitis struck Harry 'Cookie' Lavagetto today and dealt a new stunning blow to pennant hopes of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

As surgeons removed a gangrenous appendix from the 25-year-old veteran third sacker, Manager Leo Durocher assembled a "scrambled" infield and insisted "we'll carry on." He conceded, however, that his pennant-hungry charges had experienced another tough break in their injury-plagued battle to wrest the league lead from the champion Reds—currently eight and one half games.

"Lavagetto is a very sick boy," said Dr. Reed Shank, staff surgeon of the Cincinnati Reds, as he left an operating room in Christ hospital.

The appendix has not ruptured but, he added, "there was a definite gangrenous condition and we took it in the nick of time."

The young Californian was stricken during the night after retiring in apparent good health.

Barring complications which Dr. Shank said he did not expect, Lavagetto will be confined to the hospital a week or ten days and must rest the remainder of the baseball season.

Rookie Pete Resier will take over the hot corner and Durocher and Johnny Hudson will divide the shortstop trick, where Resier has been performing in the absence of Harold "Peewee" Reese.

Reese, from Louisville, Ky., and one of the rookie finds of the year, fractured a bone in his left foot several weeks ago shortly after recovering from the effects of a "beaning."

Other Dodgers have met injury or been otherwise incapacitated:

Whit Wyatt of the hurling staff nursed a bad knee early in the season; Joe Medwick, $150,000 ex-Cardinal outfielder, and pitcher Hugh Casey were hit with pitched balls; Dolph Camilli, slugging first baseman, was out with a muscular ailment and Durocher himself has recently complained of a sore throwing arm.

Two-Hit Pitching Shuts Out Giants

St. Louis, Aug. 29 (AP)—The fast-charging St. Louis Cardinals piled up five runs in the first inning today and shutout the New York Giants 5 to 0 on the magnificent two-hit hurling of Fiddler Bill McGee.

The victory gave the Red Birds undisputed possession of third place in the National League and dropped the Giants to within half a game of the fifth place Pittsburgh Pirates.

The only blows given up by McGee in nailing his 13th win were singles, one in the first by Johnny Rucker and the other in the eighth by Tony Cuccinello.

Wrigley Says Gabby Should Change Ways

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

New York, Aug. 29—News item: Phil Wrigley announces Gabby Hartnett will manage the Chicago Cubs again next year; says he is not making any money out of the club and does not pay too much attention to it.

In view of the circumstances, the conversation might be expected to run something like this:

Wrigley—come in, come in, Mr. —er—Hartnett. Sit down. You've been with us quite a while now, haven't you?

Hartnett—Yes sir. Going on 20 years.

Wrigley—Started from the bottom, didn't you, apprentice boy in the receiving department. Worked your way up to manager of the production end.

Hartnett—Yes sir.

Wrigley — Well, Hartnett, I have a surprise for you. In view of your long service and loyalty I'm going to retain you as manager next year. Now, now, wait a minute. Understand, I'm not any too well satisfied with the way things have been going this year. Of course, I don't blame you, but, well, we shall expect better results in 1941.

Hartnett—Yes, sir.

Must Have Profits

Wrigley—You should understand that we have been operating without profit. That must stop. Yes-yes, I know the purchasing department has been at fault. That was a mistake in paying $185,000 for that what's his name, Dean. But I feel that if we retrench all along the line, we can show a profit. Your job is to produce victories. When that is done, our income will increase automatically. Just one more thing. I'd start by recalling that —er—what's his name—Dean—immediately. That will be all. Good day.

Hartnett—Good day sir, and thank you.

Wrigley's early statement concerning Hartnett's status is refreshing in comparison with the tight-rope act staged by the Cub boss last winter, when over a considerable period he kept the loyal Gabby in embarassed bewilderment by periodic pronouncements which reflected a mental game of leap frog as to whether he should keep Hartnett or fire him.

With Hartnett's status cleared up, the major question with reference to major league managers involves Oscar Vitt. The idea seems to be that no matter where the Indians finish,, it will be the end of Uncle Os, and also that he would want no part of the 1941 Tribe except a few scalps for his own personal collection.

Done Good Job

There have been grumblings of discontent over the showing of the hapless Phils, but even his worst enemies, if any, would concede that the good and able Doc Prothro is doing as well as might be expected in playing two-bit chips in a dollar game.

The Cards made their change early, and the way Billy Southworth has had the Red Birds playing ball of late he should be able to write his own ticket for 1941.

Otherwise, at this early date, the pilots seem pretty well fixed. Most of them have done as well, a few much better, than expected. Nobody will deny that Leo Durocher has been little short of a miracle man in keeping a conglomeration of talent such has passed through the Brooklyn camp in the role of contender as long as he has, and that Del Baker has worked wonders at Detroit with an infield that might topple over in a good brisk breeze.

If they wanted to start riding a manager whose team hasn't done as well as expected, they might start on Joe McCarthy, but it would be necessary to toss a blanket over the past and those four straight pennants to do it with a clear conscience.

Gets In Bad

Demands for the expulsion of Sir George Paish (above), British economist and writer, from the United States were voiced by two senators because of statements which Senator Burton K. Wheeler said the Englishman had made about getting this country's assistance for Great Britain.

To achieve recovery and at the same time preserve our liberty, we must organize as consumers. We must create economic organizations of ourselves, by ourselves, and for ourselves.
—Murray D. Lincoln, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.
